

U.S., Russia Approve Nuclear Weapon Ban

President Johnson Says Treaty on Outer Space Negotiated Through U.N.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said today the United States, the Soviet Union and other countries have reached an agreement on a treaty that would bar nuclear weapons from outer space.

Johnson, in a statement read to newsmen at White House press headquarters here, said the draft treaty prepared by the outer space committee of the United Nations represents an "important step toward peace."

Announcing he would forward the treaty to the Senate early next year for ratification action, Johnson said: "I am the most important arms control development since the limited test ban treaty of 1963."

The 1963 treaty, since ratified by most of the world's nations, but not by France and Red China, forbade nuclear testing in the atmosphere. Underground testing is still permitted.

Terms of the new treaty would bar weapons from outer space and would guarantee free access by all nations to all parts of the moon and other celestial bodies — including access to any installation that man might erect there.

Johnson had no announced-in-advance appointments today at his hill country ranch, where he has spent 19 days combining official business with recuperation from his twin operations Nov. 16.

Busy Schedule
The President has been maintaining a fairly busy schedule, making frequent visits to his wood-paneled office in Austin's federal building for meetings with officials from Washington.

Johnson has said he may return to the capital this week or early next week. In any case, he is expected back in the White House by Tuesday evening, when he and Mrs. Johnson host a black tie dinner for members of the National Council on the Arts.

Uncharitable Burglars Steal Christmas Food

California's Swollen Rivers Start to Recede

National Guard Helps Evacuate Persons From Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Swollen rivers receded from flood-battered homes of California's Central Valley today as authorities kept a wary eye on the cresting Salinas River in a coastal area.

Army helicopters were readied today to airlift medical and food to the small town of Johnsville, whose residents are completely isolated by washed out roads.

Kern County officials said some 600 residents were stranded in a logging camp about 40 miles north of the upland town of Kernville. National Guardsmen helped evacuate 200 persons from Porterville Wednesday.

Officials counted one person dead and another missing in the floods, which chased some 700 persons from their homes.

In the Central Valley, property damage is expected to go into the millions. Scores of bridges in Tulare and Kern Counties were washed away or badly damaged.

Minor Flooding
At the other end of the nation, river forecasters issued high-water warnings for a four-county area of northwestern Pennsylvania along the Allegheny River as thawing snow and

Satellite Drifts Towards Orbit

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that in about 12 days control jets would jockey the satellite into the desired location.

While it hovers over one point on earth, ATS, for Applications Technology Satellite, will test new space communications and weather forecasting techniques.

ATS, the first of five such satellites made by Hughes Aircraft Co., was launched from Cape Kennedy Tuesday night.

Mother Kept Venison

Christmas Behind Bars

WAUPACA — A young mother of three, who shot a deer because her family needed the food, will spend the rest of the Christmas season in jail.

The woman, Mrs. Luella Bartkowiak, 26, route 2, Waupaca, was unable to pay a Municipal Court fine of $75 Wednesday and Justice George Whalen then ruled she must spend 30 days in jail.

Mrs. Bartkowiak, a divorcee, said she shot the deer with a .22 caliber rifle in a field near her home. She then dragged it to the house, skinned it and cut it up. She was arrested Dec. 1 by Wisconsin Conservation Department officials and charged with illegal possession of venison.

Admitting she committed the act for the food it would bring her family, Mrs. Bartkowiak said her only means of income has been $35 per week support payments.

Because Waupaca County does not have facilities for female prisoners, she was taken to the Outagamie County jail in Appleton to serve her sentence.

A relative agreed to care for her three children until the term is up.

Pope Likes Idea of Combining Truces

Chance of End To War 'Strong,' Pontiff Claims

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today the outlook for an end to the war in Viet Nam appears brighter and called on both sides to extend year-end truce periods into an armistice that would permit peace talks.

"The idea of an end to hostilities is becoming stronger and more confident," the Pope said. "If, as it has been announced, a further cessation of hostilities is to follow shortly on the Christmas truce, why do not both parties to the conflict join the two separate truces into a single, continuous period of time, so that new ways may be explored of bringing about an honorable understanding putting an end to the conflict?"

Pope Paul said he had tried to work for peace ever since he was elected Pope in June 1963, and had repeatedly urged an end to strife among nations "through frank and honorable negotiations."

Pope Paul said the approach of Christmas brought to mind "the war in a distant corner of the world saddening and threatening the whole world, the war that is still going on. How opposed to one another are these two terms, these two events — Christmas and war!"

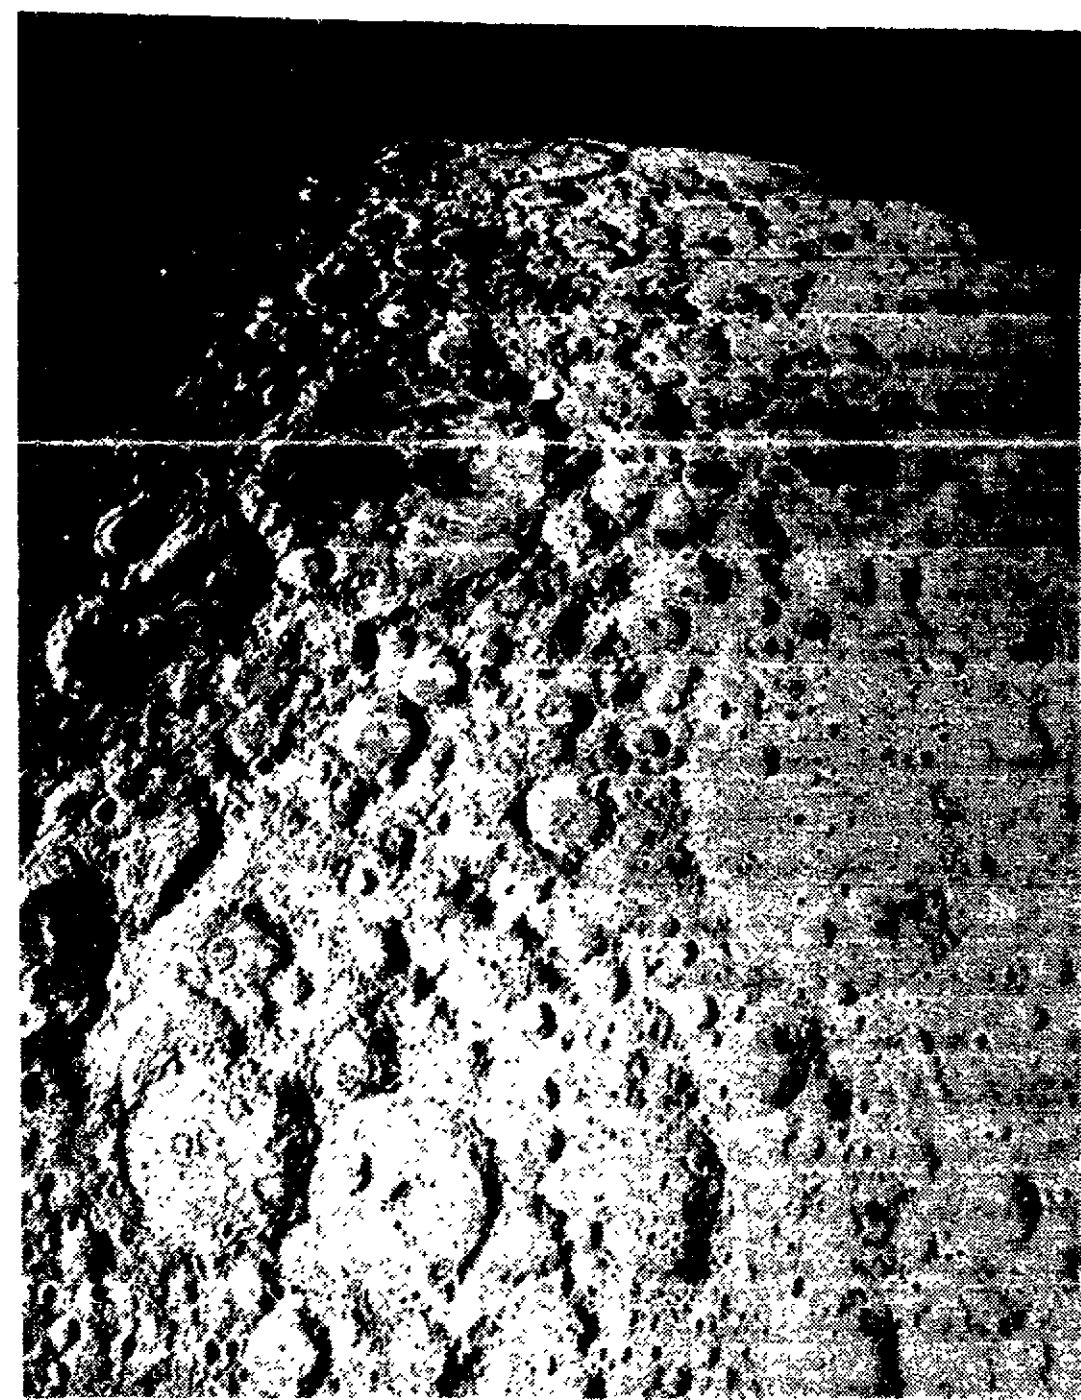

planned to ask the forces in Viet Nam today to observe a Christmas truce but "happily this invitation is no longer necessary."

He said he wished to express satisfaction "to the statesmen who have been responsible for arranging this noble and chivalrous act."

Neglecting "such a golden opportunity" to end the war, he said, would "be fraught with danger." He said he prayed that his "earnest desire will not fall on deaf ears."

Storm Hinders Rescuers

More Than 200 Feared Lost As Ship Sinks in Aegean Sea

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A Greek ship sank today in a raging storm in the Aegean Sea and more than 200 persons are believed to have drowned.

Of the 281 persons aboard, only 47 had been snatched from the stormy seas several hours after the ship went down. The 8,900-ton Heraklion sank half way between the island of Crete and the Greek mainland, in its regular 10-hour crossing from Crete to Piraeus, the port of Athens.

The first survivors sighted were floating in the sea 19 miles northeast of the island of Milos, where the Venus de Milo statue was discovered in 1820.

Shipping officials said the Heraklion carried 206 passengers, including one foreigner, and a crew of 75 commanded by Capt. E. Vernikos.

The foreign passenger was not immediately identified.

Series of Disasters
The sinking of the Heraklion was one of a series of postwar disasters to Greek ships. The cruise ship Lakonia burned and sank during a Christmas cruise in the Atlantic two years ago and 128 persons died. Europe's worst postwar maritime disaster was the sinking of the Himera, which went down off Athens in 1947 with a loss of 392 lives.

In the first hours after the disaster, the Merchant Marine Ministry said there appeared to be no hope of survivors. But as ships and planes converged on the disaster site, wreckage and people were seen in the water. Planes dropped lifebelts and rafts.

The Greek government declared a state of emergency to aid the rescue operations.

Reports coming in from the rescue operation said some of the survivors were seriously injured.

U.S. Begins Campaign Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers pounded a Viet Cong jungle base 25 miles northwest of Saigon today, opening a new campaign to clear the enemy from around South Viet Nam's capital.

The clearance campaign was launched in the wake of the bold suicide attack last weekend on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base. The B52 target was believed to be the base from which the Viet Cong mount terror and infiltration attacks on the capital.

Small Skirmishes
In the ground war, only small patrol skirmishes again were reported, a situation that has prevailed for more than a week.

The continuing lull was reflected in a decrease in the casualties last week for all forces in Viet Nam.

The U. S. command said 44 Americans were killed, 521 were wounded and 18 were missing or captured. The week before there were 143 killed, 709 wounded and two missing or captured.

Vietnamese casualties dropped from 159 killed and 41 missing to 139 killed and 14 missing, while the enemy figures last week were 1,181 killed and 162 captured, compared with 1,439 killed and 144 captured the week before.

At the Vatican, Pope Paul VI urged that the truces proclaimed for Christmas and the Vietnamese New Year in February be joined into a lasting armistice that would permit negotiations for peace. There was no immediate reaction in Saigon, but Premier Nguyen Cao Ky recently said that any truce should be a matter of hours and not days. U. S. officials also have expressed opposition to a prolonged truce, contending that the Communists take advantage of the respite to regroup and resupply.

U. S. headquarters in Saigon reported that American troop strength in Viet Nam reached 352,000 by last Saturday, a net increase of 1,000.

In the B52 raid 25 miles northwest of Saigon, bombers unloaded tons of explosives on a Viet Cong complex which U. S. officials said contained numerous Cua was disarmed and handcuffed by U. S. military police after he brandished a Thompson submachine-gun at them, U. S. officials said.

'Odor of Alcohol'
They said the MPs were summoned to the waterfront near the My Canh floating restaurant after reports that a man was firing a gun. A U. S. spokesman said the MPs "detected an odor of alcohol" on the man, who later proved to be the mayor.

The Americans, apparently unaware or unsure of the mayor's identity, searched him and took a .38 caliber revolver from him. He was wearing a sport shirt and slacks.

In the meantime, Vietnamese police arrived on the scene and

Ike Expects to Stay 12 Days in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, smiling and saying he felt fine, checked into Walter Reed Army Hospital today to prepare for removal of his gall bladder.

An Army helicopter bearing the five-star emblem of Eisenhower's rank brought him to the hospital grounds from his farm home at Gettysburg, Pa.

He entered the hospital shortly before noon and was to have lunch with Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, who will head the operating team, before undergoing a series of preliminary tests.

Date of his surgery has not been announced, but Eisenhower said he expects to be hospitalized for 12 days — leaving him time to get home for Christmas.

Doctors have indicated they'll schedule the operation after Eisenhower has undergone presurgery tests, which may take three or four days.

Good Spirits
Eisenhower was beaming and in obvious good spirits as he returned the salute of officers who met him at the hospital helipad. From there he drove to the VIP entrance of the main building.

As he landed, Eisenhower was greeted by Brig. Gen. Philip W. Mallory, commanding general of the hospital.

"I am coming to Walter Reed on the advice of doctors who found difficulty in my gall bladder," Eisenhower told reporters who waited for him at the door to the hospital.

He said the doctors wanted to take the gall bladder out and "after all, with that kind of thing in my body and a bad heart, I don't want them both there at the same time."

But, Eisenhower said, "I feel fine — just following the doctors' advice, that's all."

And, in answer to a question, said he hoped to be playing golf by the end of February — "I'd like to be chipping before then."

Eisenhower who said Wednesday that "apparently I have many, many rocks — gall stones — in me," told newsmen today that his doctors "think one of them is shaped like a golf ball — although one with no dimples."

Allergic to City Water, Teen-Ager Seeks Help

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 13 and since I was four I have been allergic to green plants, especially wild daisies. This summer after a trip to the city swimming pool I found that I am allergic to chlorine. I break out in a thick, itchy rash. What I don't understand is that I lived in the city until several years ago and used city water, which has chlorine, and had been to the pool many times but until this year it never bothered me. Now even to use city water for one day makes my hands and feet break out.

My doctor says there is nothing that can be done except to stay out of city water. Is there anything I can do? — D.T.

I regret to say that your doctor is probably right.

Folks who are highly allergic usually are sensitive to more than one thing, but often do not realize what some of the potential allergies are until they are overexposed.

Let's explain it this way — and keep the word "tolerance" in mind. We tolerate various substances within certain limits. You evidently could tolerate chlorine to the extent of using city water.

But then one day you were extra-heavily exposed to chlorine — that day you went swimming, and the rash broke out. Once you had gone past your level of tolerance, you became sensitive even to rather small amounts of chlorine. That is the way allergies often behave.

There is this factor, too: Your tolerance is affected to at least some degree by the total amount of exposure, at any one time, to different things to which you are allergic. That is, you may have been exposed to some plants, or to other things to which you are somewhat allergic, just before you went swimming. Or it may have been a hot, sticky day, and your skin was hot and sweaty and hence more sensitive.

Allergies do, in a sense, "add up," and so do some other factors, which is the likely explanation for your trouble with the chlorine after having, in the past, not been bothered.

I entirely agree that you must avoid chlorine. It will also pay you to avoid anything else to which you know you have an allergy.

Keeping contact at a minimum (less than whatever it takes to make you break out) may help you build up moderate tolerance. Don't expect too much — but every little helps, and you may in time be able to use city water in moderate amounts without trouble.

It is possible, although this is perhaps a rather long chance, that an allergist can help you, but he will certainly insist that you keep away from chlorine and these other things while he is treating you. I don't say that even an allergist can perform miracles, but a little relief would help, so if I were in your place I would at least give it a try.

Dear Dr. Molner: As a wife I write fairly well but when I start to sign my name in front of someone, I just scribble. Why would I do this and how can I overcome it? — Mrs. R.M.

You have nice handwriting, so I'd assume that this is a nervous habit. Why not sit down and write your name a few dozen times, then tell yourself that you'll write it like that the next time you sign in public?

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that the caffeine in coffee is one of the causes of heart disease? — E.G.

No, although it may bother some hearts if they are already diseased, chiefly by causing a disturbance in the rhythm such as extra beats or fast rate.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Legislative Council To Ask for Money to Computerize Statutes

MADISON (AP)—The Legislative Council will ask the State Board on Government Operations Monday for $75,000 to convert the 4,480 pages of the Wisconsin statutes into two reels of computer tape.

The move is being made to reduce the necessity for legal researchers to comb the statutes each time a change in the law is approved.

The tape could be fed into a state-operated computer and it would give all statute references in minutes.

The funds would be used to train personnel to use the new system as well as turn the two-volume Wisconsin lawbook into tape.

Batman Foils Plot For 2 Politicians

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Batman, television's caped crusader, holds the balance of power in a City Commission race, all because some joker put his name on a write-in ballot.

Amazed officials counted the votes in an election Tuesday for a city commissioner three times and each time got the same result.

Candidates Howard James and Joseph Stargel each received 674 votes and there was one write-in vote for Batman. The votes were made official.

City Atty. William A. Guner said he will have to do some extensive research to find an answer to the problem. Gainesville has never had a tie election before and the city's election machinery makes no provision for a runoff.

which said the new food service installation will complement the additional dormitory space provided on the campus recently.

Meanwhile the allocation of funds for the 1967 summer instruction program showed Oshkosh continued to lead enrollment among the schools of the system.

The regents approved a summer session budget of $415,000 for Oshkosh, which will cover additional teaching and other costs to accommodate an expected enrollment of 425 students in graduate courses and about 2,070 undergraduates, for a total of about 2,500 out of the 16,208 summer school enrollment expected for the nine schools in the system.

At 70 MPH Squad Car Hit, Man Held After Wild Chase

An Outagamie County squad car was extensively damaged and a former Seymour man was in jail this morning following a wild 70 miles per hour chase and a wrestling match near Seymour before midnight Wednesday.

Lloyd (Skip) Halverson, 21, who listed no permanent address, was scheduled to be arraigned late this morning in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, on several traffic charges.

The chase started about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday in downtown Seymour when county patrolman Thomas Januskeske attempted to question Halverson about an earlier incident.

Speeds Off

Januskeske said he spoke to Halverson as the later was coming out of the Coach Lite Inn. Halverson reportedly got into his 1959 auto and sped away accompanied by a 17-year-old Seymour girl.

Januskeske said he chased Halverson with red light and siren operating on State 55 to County Trunk G then to State 47 where the former Seymour man jumped a stop sign. Halverson then pulled onto Meyer Road about six miles west of Seymour where the patrolman, with a Seymour squad car following, attempted to pull ahead of the fleeing car.

Halverson reportedly slammed into the right side of the squad car forcing it onto the shoulder. Januskeske then pulled ahead of Halverson's car and the Seymour squad car driven by Will Mamero pulled behind the Halverson car, "boxing" it in. Halverson then rammed the rear of the county squad car several times before his motor stalled.

Police handcuffed the former Seymour man and strapped him into the Outagamie squad car. He became violent and kicked the police radio disabling it. He also broke the key in the car's ignition. Halverson threatened police and also threatened to take his own life with a knife.

Halverson, a well built man, managed to jump from the car and fled. He was wrestled to the ground by Januskeske, Mamero and County Sgt. Robert Keating who was called to the scene. The policemen's clothing was wet and badly soiled in the melee.

Halverson was brought to the county jail about 12:45 a.m. today. Police said the high speed chase took place on wet roads. The entire right side and rear of the squad car was damaged. Police said Halverson's car was a total wreck. There were no injuries.

State's 677 TB Cases Show 4.6 Per Cent Jump in 1965

MILWAUKEE — New cases of tuberculosis in Wisconsin rose from 647 in 1964 to 677 in 1965 for a 4.6 per cent increase.

Patients in Wisconsin sanatoriums for treatment or diagnostic study dropped from 2,151 in 1964 to 2,028 in 1965, representing a 5.7 per cent decrease.

The facts are brought out in the annual statistical study of the tuberculosis situation in Wisconsin made by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association (WATA).

"The increase last year in the number of newly reported cases of tuberculosis is the first in three years. It is a warning that the year-round campaign against tuberculosis must be stepped up," the WATA said in reporting the totals.

"Christmas Seal contributions by Wisconsin people will help make possible more intensive campaigns for earlier discovery and treatment of active cases and for preventive treatment of persons at high risk of developing active TB."

Deaths from tuberculosis in Wisconsin in 1965 totaled 103. This is the highest number for any year since 1961 and higher than the five-year average for the period 1961-65, the WATA study reveals.

Paperwork Becomes An Expensive Jungle

BY SYLVIA PORTER

American business firms now store an estimated 1,000,000,000,000 (one trillion) pieces of paper in their filing cabinets and desk drawers, at a yearly cost of 1 cent apiece. They add an estimated 250,000,000,000 (one-quarter trillion) pieces of paper to this storehouse each year. They will never withdraw for use more than 20 per cent of all this.

The federal Government has 25,500,000 cubic feet of records, the equivalent of 1 1/2 filing cabinets for each Federal employee. Our government also produces enough paper each year to fill a filing drawer 1,800 miles long.

The cost of paperwork both to the business community and to government at all levels is no less than insane. In a report last month, the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee put the paperwork cost to the Federal Government alone at more than $8 billion a year; the total paperwork tab of the U.S. economy has been put as high as $100 billion a year. Why do we generate so much paper? How much of it is necessary? What can be done to curb the costs?

Utter Waste

Of course, a tremendous volume of today's paperwork is utter waste, as evidenced by the reports of companies which have simply heaved out whole libraries of records without any harm done. Many of today's new office machines, microfilm techniques and computer systems eliminate the need for the paper blizzard.

The Post-Crescent B 7
Thursday, Dec. 8, 1966

The executive branch of the U.S. government reported savings in paperwork totaling $17 million last fiscal year, just by using standardized forms and other paper-cutting methods. U.S. Archivist Robert H. Bahmer believes that only 3-5 per cent of all Federal paperwork is worth saving, even though the individual agencies themselves want to save as much as 25 per cent ad infinitum.

As for the generation of paper, there are glaring examples throughout government: applications, instructions and directives for one typical Head Start pre-school program were weighed in by a paperwork foe at 5 pounds.

The U.S. Agriculture Department, which maintains filing cabinets that would cover 18 acres of floor space, also maintains a "shopping list" of 412 (at last count) pamphlets for farmers and homemakers. Among them are plans for a "Bunker-type Fallout Shelter for Beef Cattle," a manual on "Quince Growing," and a tract on how to combat "The Meadow Spittlebug."

Note Each Phone Call

Under the White House Congressional liaison system, all employees in the executive branch of the government are required to fill out forms detailing every single telephone call or other contact with any member of Congress or his staff.

Virtually all government agencies have press departments churning out millions of press releases: one Congressman reported receiving 16 copies of the same press release. My own mail brings me literally tons of paper each year and I consider it Standard Operating Procedure to receive copies of the same press release.

So dense has the paper jungle become that congressional pressure is growing for a new Hoover Commission to review all administrative procedures of all federal agencies and to recommend possible economies on paper work.

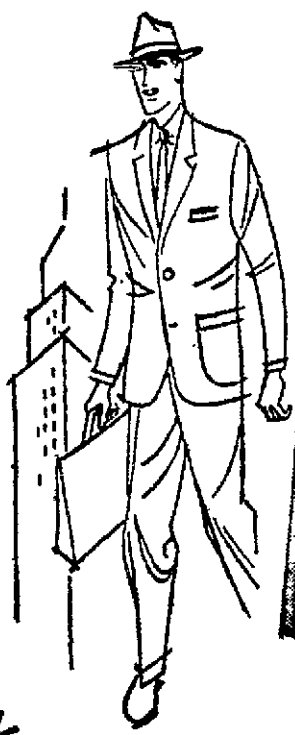

Our massive bureaucracy will not make major paperwork savings overnight. It will be a mammoth task to tear down the quintuplicate form traditions in government.

But if there is one way government can cut costs to contribute a mite toward balancing the budget and business can slash expenses to help sustain its profits, it is by shredding the paperwork.

Assess Byrnes For More Tax On Stock Shift

Scholarships, Inc.
Reimburses $6,400
To Congressman

GREEN BAY — The United States Internal Revenue Service has assessed additional income taxes and interest against 8th District Rep. and Mrs. John Byrnes in connection with their transfer of stock in an insurance company to Scholarships, Inc., of Green Bay three years ago.

Scholarships, Inc., a non-profit organization set up by a group of citizens here to award scholarships to needy students who would otherwise be unable to attend college, has reimbursed the Byrneses for the additional tax and interest totaling $6,471.65. The total was divided between $4,338.62 additional tax and $1,633.03 interest to Nov. 30.

Byrnes, Green Bay Republican, was notified of the assessment several weeks ago. He, in turn, notified Scholarships, which had agreed at the time the stock in Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Co. was transferred to it to pay both for the original purchase price and any income taxes assessed against the Byrneses after an Internal Revenue Service review of the transaction.

The MGIC stock had been transferred to Scholarships after a storm was raised in late 1963 over allegation that Byrnes had received a preferred price on the stock in connection with a request to the Treasury Department to reverse a ruling for the insurance firm. The ruling involved deferring federal income taxes on premium income the firm was required by Wisconsin law to place in reserve.

House Speech

Byrnes denied the allegations in a House speech and at the same time announced that he was transferring the 966 shares of MGIC stock to Scholarships.

Byrnes had paid $2,300 for the stock. Scholarships sold the shares Jan. 13, 1965, netting

Name 6 New Members To Fair Employment Practices Committee

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles named six new members to the Fair Employment Practices Advisory Committee and reappointed one person Wednesday.

Named to replace other members on the committee for three-year terms were James P. Golding of Manitowoc; Francis C. Schmitt of Two Rivers; William Wilbert of Kenosha, and Howard Hassett, Everett J. Moten, and Wesley L. Scott, all of Milwaukee.

The one person renamed was E. F. Stanelle of Milwaukee.

$24,580 after sales commissions and then reimbursed Byrnes for the original $2,300 purchase price leaving scholarships a net of $22,280. This amount was invested in government securities. The reimbursement for the additional assessment reduces the net realized by Scholarships from the sale of the stock to $16,808.

Byrnes told the Post-Crescent Washington Bureau that he did not now plan to appeal the ruling on the assessment. Officials of the revenue service in Washington refused to give any information on the ruling or why it was delayed for almost three years.

It was indicated, however, that the assessment was based on the stock value approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the difference between that value and the market value as determined by the revenue service at the time of the transfer to Scholarships.

Schedules Set For Revamping College Avenue

construction activity when the greatest amount of traffic, both vehicle and pedestrian, will be disrupted.

Frank Keuler, officially acting for the first time as director of public works, said work is likely to begin in January at two points on the avenue, near Drew and Division Streets.

First Priority

First priority will be given to sanitary and storm sewer work. Normally sewer construction starts at the sewer's lowest point, Keuler said. He indicated the Drew and Division Street sites would mark the initial phase of the 10-month project.

As sewer work progresses, other crews will move into the project with a heavy concentration of activity in May, June and July. Pointer said sewer work will hopefully be finished by mid-July.

Gas mains will be reworked beginning in May and lasting through August, the schedule shows. Sidewalk work on both sides of the avenue will start in May and end late in October.

Paving Operations

Actual street paving operations are scheduled for early May with a three week "break" allowing utility crews to work on the unpaved avenue.

Hopefully, paving will be finished by late August. Street lights will be installed from May through October. Telephone and electric installations are tentatively set for May through August, Pointer said.

The proposed schedule allows the maximum work span. Shorter work periods are hoped for, Pointer said.

The schedule was drawn in advance of contract bidding. Bids are scheduled to be opened Dec. 20.

More Information

Pointer said more specific information on major traffic-disrupting operations will be available at a later date.

He predicted, however, "on the first of May you will have heavy equipment running down the middle of College Avenue taking pavement out."

Appleton and Oneida streets will be open to traffic at all times, Pointer said. The ribbon of concrete will begin west of the Drew Street intersection and east of the Richmond Street-

Memorial Drive corner. Consequently traffic will move as usual on those north-south thoroughfares.

"Ten or 12 feet of sidewalk will be available during most of the construction season," Keuler said. "It is conceivable that three or four crews could start work at the same time," he added.

Subject to Change

Emphasizing that the schedule given Wednesday night is subject to change, Pointer said, "there are quite a few differences as far as how big the contractor is, how big his crews are and how he wants to expedite the project."

Most property owners along the avenue are users of utilities at the present time, Pointer said. The rest will be contacted to learn if they desire utility installation during the project.

"We will make every effort to avoid having the street torn up again," Pointer said.

Director of planning Walter Rasmussen said daily traffic detours will be a major consideration and the city will inform the public of detours as far in advance as possible.

Plans Approved

The street and sanitary committee has approved plans for avenue reconstruction. Twenty-four sets of plans have been distributed, Pointer said. Thirteen have gone to paving contractors.

The committee of the whole meeting was unscheduled. It was called for by aldermen who desired information on next year's downtown project.

During the council session, aldermen:

— Approved removal of rush-hour parking prohibitions on the north side of Washington Street west of Appleton Street effective this morning.

— Referred back to the board of public works a recommendation to raise the minimum fine for first offenders who cause property damage from $1 to $50. The Public Safety Committee originally asked for the increase.

— Approved the new fire department organization chart caused by the reduction in weekly hours for firemen from 63 to 56 hours.

— Approved installation of amber flashing lights at the pedestrian crosswalk on S. Oneida Street at the Appleton Machine Co.

Lawrence Christmas Music Will Be Sounding Around the World

Christmas music from Lawrence University will be heard throughout the nation and around the globe during the coming holiday season.

A 25-minute program, recorded especially for the stations of the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) will go on the air from 9:05 to 9:30 p.m. Dec. 19. Participating are the Lawrence Concert Choir directed by Mari Taniguchi; the Lawrence Singers led by LaVahn Maesch, dean of the conservatory, and senior student John Hall, Eagle River, playing the carillon in Memorial Chapel.

The choir sings traditional songs in English, French, Russian and the Catalanian dialect, while the Singers have programmed southern mountain carols and contemporary works.

Mrs. Gezella Jensen, 47, 1407 N. Owaisa St., was taken to the hospital.

Both women are from the same address.

The program will be part of a series titled "Voices of Christmas," in which 10 college and high school choirs will be heard between Dec. 12 and 23.

NBC has indicated that the Lawrence carillon music will be used as the theme song for the entire series.

Around the World

Voice of America will broadcast a half-hour program of the Lawrence Choir throughout the world during the holidays, with announcing done in 37 languages. Miss Taniguchi has directed the choir in Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," with baritone Dale Duesing as soloist. Carols in English, French, Russian and Catalanian also will be heard.

Full broadcasts of the Lawrence presentation of "The Messiah" by George F. Handel will be heard on four state outlets. The state station FM network will carry the two-hour oratorio at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 18. WAPL will broadcast it on the same day at 6:10 p.m. and WHBY at 9 p.m. Dec. 24. WBEV, Beaver Dam, has not announced its schedule.

WLUX-TV will do a short tape of The Messiah, both in rehearsal and in performance.

Feature Soloists

LaVahn Maesch directs the 180-voice Choral Society in the oratorio, with the following soloists — Mari Taniguchi, soprano; Ruth Slater, contralto; Richard Knoll, tenor, and Dale Duesing, baritone.

A half-hour program of the Bach "Christmas Oratorio" as performed by the Lawrence Choir, and carillon music by John Hall will be on WHBY at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 18, and 7:30 p.m. Dec. 25.

Last Sunday WAPL presented a re-broadcast of the Lawrence Choir's earlier program in Memorial Chapel, which combined Christmas music with the Brahms "Liedeslieder Waltzes" sung in German and the coronation scene from the opera "Boris Godounoff" in Russian. Arrangements for the pro-

The proposed new steam and gas turbine plant will add materially to the property tax base in the city as this will be completely taxable, noted Rhinerson. It will also provide employment for about 20 additional men, thus adding to the city's income tax return. Rhinerson did not know when the study on rate adjustments would be completed or when they would take effect as these two must be reviewed by the PSC.

While Froehlich said that politics did not determine his selections, the committee is considered to have a strong fiscally conservative outlook.

The Harold P. Carlson family had the honor of lighting the first Advent candle at the workshop Sunday at First Congregational Church. At left are Mrs. Carlson holding Michael, Kathy, Mr. Carlson and Steven. At right, as the tempting aroma of favorite casseroles and salads began to fill the church kitchen, are Mrs. Kellogg W. Harkins, Mrs. Charles Laga and Mrs. LeRoy Wood.

Family Advent Workshop

The Advent Workshop has become a tradition at the First Congregational Church. The Sunday event, arranged so that entire families can participate, is planned so that the religious significance of the holiday season becomes a part of the planning and observance of Christmas.

The afternoon and early evening program includes a service in church, a potluck supper and workshops for children of all ages, including those in which families can work together.

Among projects families worked on were candles, balloon ornaments, Santa mobiles, cut-out foil ornaments, paper garlands, Christmas candy wreaths and cookie decorating. The cookies for the program were donated by a committee headed by Mrs. Ethel Hanna.

Chairmen
Mrs. Kellogg Harkins and Mrs. Charles Laga served as co-chairmen of the supper. Assisting them were Junior Pilgrim Fellowship members Debbie Frey, Sarah Davis and Linda Fiedler. Mrs. Leonard Handstedt had charge of decorations and Mrs. Orville Hawkins and Mrs. John Davis prepared the advent workshop booklet for home use. Publicity was handled by Mrs. E. Bradley Shepard.

The Senior Pilgrim Fellowship had charge of the worship service; Mrs. Carl Rowland, infant care; and the cadet teachers, nursery care.

First Candle
Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Carlson and family lit the first Advent candle. Christmas music during the workshops and supper was in charge of Chad Harkins.

Workshop chairmen were John Davis, Richard Heiden, Charles Kolb, Mrs. Norman Lambie, Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Mrs. Peter Vollmer and Mrs. Delmar Drumm.

Family Approval Needed When Mom Takes a Job

Married women need to consider desires and feelings of the family before deciding to "take a job."

There comes a time when every woman is likely to ask herself, "Should I take a job?" Statistics show that more than one-third of the women answer "yes." But before this decision is reached several considerations need to be taken.

Of primary importance is the husband's attitude toward his wife's employment. If he doesn't approve there may be discord and unhappiness in the home. The husband's cooperation is important in making things run smoothly.

Roles Differ
Before accepting employment it's well to evaluate the motives for working. "Keeping up with the Joneses" may not be a valid reason. Each person is different and should choose a role based on individual desires and needs.

Each woman today must work out her own design for living. She needs to take into account individual talents, temperament and training and the attitudes of people close to her. Her role will not be like women of the past. It will not be exactly like neighbors and friends. It should be the choice best suited to her.

Health and physical stamina are important to the working wife and mother. The demands of home life must still be met. The job-plus-home schedule will take its toll of physical health and energy. Some women can take this extra strain and others may suffer.

Managerial ability is another consideration that should be made before taking a job. Some women say the pressure of employment is good because it forces them to plan ahead. The same amount of work is accomplished but they organize more efficiently.

Children Considered
Will the returns be worth the effort? Studies show that income taxes, social security and job-related expenses take one-third to one-half off a woman's earning.

What will the effects be on children? If small children need to be cared for, a competent baby sitter or day-care center needs to be provided. It is easier for mothers to work when children are in school. Arrangements need to be made if she is not at home when the children return.

Even with careful child care arrangements, there is always the possibility of children's illnesses and other home emergencies when mother will need to be absent from her employment.

Club Makes Investment in Fun

Although the idea is not unusual in other cities, the Investor Club is new to Appleton. Designed for young people over 21 years of age, the group plans monthly parties and informal get-togethers for members to relax and have fun.

A dance was held at Sabre Lanes Friday evening to organize the club and get things moving. The 175 persons attending the "first meeting" became acquainted with each other, frugged and made new friends. They also discussed plans for an after-ski gathering after the holidays.

The club takes its name from a minimal membership fee or "investment" in the group's social activities. Parties with a varying theme will be held each month except during the summer.

Any person over 21, single or married, with an interest in making new friends is eligible for membership. Information may be obtained from Gordon Janus.

Major Shifts Made in Kellett Proposal for Reorganization

Touchy Question of Conservation, Resource Development Unsettled

st-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Kellett reorganization bill. It is now on commission on reorganizing the state government made a series of major shifts in the third draft of its proposed bill Wednesday, but bogged down again by the touchy political question of how to combine the Wisconsin Conservation Department and the Department of Resource Development.

Thirteen of the 15 members of the commission met for five hours Wednesday afternoon, poring over nearly every major section of the bill. Among the major actions taken to streamline the present 80 to 100 state agencies, commissions and departments were:

- Renaming the proposed Department of Health and Welfare to the Department of Social Services. This was done to eliminate the "stigma" of the word welfare.
- Transferring the Department of Veterans Affairs from the proposed combined Department of Military and Veterans Affairs to the new Department of Social Services.

Appointment Continued
— Allowing the banking department, securities department, savings and loan department, to remain under governor-appointed commissioners. The draft had called for the inclusion of the four business oriented units as divisions of the new Department of Commerce, and therefore under civil-servant heads rather than commissioners.

— Postponed further consideration of the Conservation-Resources Department until Dec. 14 after a show of hands found only six members in favor of a coordinating committee of the two agencies. The new super-committee would be similar to the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

The Kellett Commission was established by the Legislature, with William R. Kellett as chairman, and has been working for a year and a half on the reorganization bill. It is now attempting to deal with the remaining unsolved issues before final drafting.

Ready in January
Kellett said he hopes to have the final version ready for public hearings in January. The bill is now optimistically written to take effect July 1, 1968.

Basically the present draft takes the numerous agencies concerned with state government and lumps them "functionally" into four constitutional offices, six departments with single executives and 10 departments headed by either boards or commissions.

Still to be decided by the commission are the conservation question and the final composition of the cabinet-type Departments of Commerce and Transportation. And then there is the long legislative road before any final part of the bill becomes law.

Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay, who headed the subcommittee dealing with the conservation question, said the coordinating committee approach had been taken to allow the newly enacted water pollution law under the Department of Resource Development to get into gear without having to go through a massive reorganization at the outset.

2 Sub-Agencies
The new water pollution program passed by the 1965 Legislature would be put in tandem with the Conservation Department under a Coordinating Committee on Natural Resources, both sub-agencies keeping their present policy boards in operation under the coordinating committee.

Chairman Kellett backed the coordinating committee approach as a gradual route toward combining the two agencies, but Sen. Taylor Benson, D-Franksville, attached the coordinating committee approach as "buck passing."

Benson said creating another layer of government on top of the existing agencies would cause confusion, would be extremely expensive and would continue the present "empire building."

Abbott Byfield, Kimberly, Clark executive, pointed out that the commission has a specific and strongly-worded charge by the Legislature to create a Department of Natural Resources.

While most of the members appeared to agree with George Kaiser, Department of Administration commissioner, that the ultimate plan for the two agencies should be a single board with a professional administrator, there was strong respect for the political weight of the supporters of an independent conservation department.

Reconsideration
After long discussion of the conservation issue, Kellett called for a vote. When only six members supported the coordinating committee approach, he declined to call for the "nay" votes and set a new meeting for next week. In the interim, Warren's subcommittee will reconsider the structure of the natural resources function.

The other problem area broached by the commission was in the highly political sphere of veterans affairs. Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, fought the transfer of the veterans affairs functions to the proposed Department of Social Services but the final show of hands recorded 10 of 13 members in favor of the shift.

Martin also opposed the transfer of the Grand Army Home for Veterans at King to the Social Services Department, but again was in the minority.

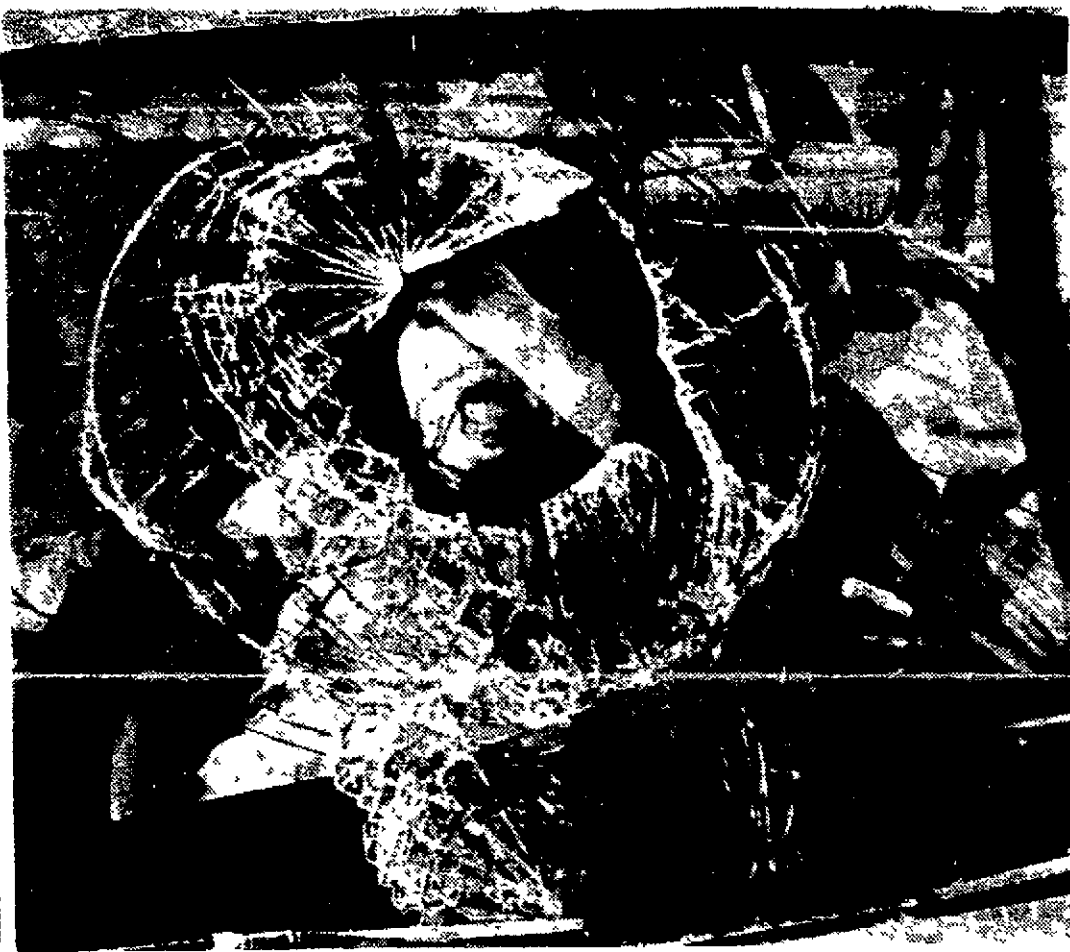

The task force, which had planned to combine Health and Welfare, voted to add Veterans Affairs to the merger after Benson said, "We're getting to the point where everybody is a veteran and I personally don't think he's a super-first-class citizen."

The merged department, as placed on the drawing board, would involve about $270 million — or nearly one-quarter of the spending requests now pending for the proposed $12 billion state budget for 1967-69.

With no changes involved in the two university systems under the present Coordinating Committee for Higher Education or in the present Department of Public Instruction headed by the state superintendent, the areas accounting for more than half of all the spending in the state budget consequently have been left untouched.

GOP 'State of the Union'

House Republicans Setting Goals For Domestic Legislation for 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders are mapping their 1967 domestic legislative program in a series of meetings with defense and economic experts, legislators and governors.

One session has been held, and four more are planned in the next two weeks.

The finished product will be unveiled by GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford in the Republican evaluation of the "State of the Union," expected to take place about a week after President Johnson's "State of the Union" Message Congress reconvenes Jan. 10. No dates have been set for the President's major messages.

As was the case last year, Ford is expected to discuss domestic issues such as inflation, the draft, taxes and government spending, while Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen analyzes foreign policy.

Some Republicans were critical last year when Dirksen outlined a Viet Nam policy close to the President's, but preparations are proceeding on the assumption the same format will be used.

The Republican leaders held one session here last week on federal-state relations. The GOP position in this area has already been detailed by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House GOP Conference.

This is a tax-sharing plan under which a fixed percentage of tax revenues would be returned to the states, with an added amount going to poorer states.

Two sessions are planned next week, one on defense policy and the other on crime and law enforcement.

Ted Kennedy Will Ask for Limited Extension of Draft
CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he will ask Congress next year to limit the extension of the present draft laws to six months or a year — unless it is able to agree on a proposed reform before the legislation expires June 30.

The Massachusetts Democrat expressed doubt, however, that the complex issue of the Selective Service System and the myriad of suggestions for altering — and abolishing — it could be digested in the half-year left before the deadline.

The draft laws normally would be extended for four years.

Girls at Radcliffe Make More Gains
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Radcliffe girls have made another inroad at Harvard University.

Beginning with the spring term, the 1,200 Radcliffe undergraduates and 650 graduate students will be allowed to use the previously male-only Lamont Library at Harvard, library director Merle Fainsod announced Wednesday.

The process that has seen Harvard become coeducational will be complete then except for social clubs, which will remain exclusively male.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Eugene (Bull) Connor who as Birmingham police commissioner a few years ago strongly opposed civil rights demonstrations, has suffered "a serious stroke."

Power to Buy School Land Is Uncertain

LaFollette Thinks Kenosha County May Make Purchase

MADISON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bronson C. LaFollette told Kenosha County Wednesday he thought it had legal power to acquire land for a new University of Wisconsin campus, but said he could not guarantee how the courts would rule.

LaFollette called the issue of whether a county could condemn land for transfer to the state for educational purposes "a novel question" and added, "Our court, insofar as I have been able to determine, has not decided a case that is even close in point."

The University of Wisconsin-Parkside, one of two new four-year campuses authorized by the 1965 Legislature, is planned for a site near Petrifying Springs Park north of Kenosha.

LaFollette offered his informal opinion to Kenosha County corporation counsel Joseph J. Salituro after the attorney noted a group called the Southeastern Citizens Alliance planned to challenge the power to condemn the land and to borrow money to pay for it.

LaFollette, citing various sections of the law, said he thought the land acquisition would be legal. He added, "If the court sustains the taking, as a taking for a lawful purpose, it would undoubtedly uphold the borrowing."

But, the attorney general noted, his opinion in no way would block the Citizens Alliance from filing its suit and could

Rhodesian Export Ban Called Likely

Africans Press for Embargo On Oil to Rebel British Colony

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African pressure was mounting today for an embargo on oil for Rhodesia, but British Foreign Secretary George Brown said a ban on exports from the rebel colony was more likely to be enforced.

Most of the pressure was coming from African members of the 26-nation Commonwealth group who met with Brown for 90 minutes late Wednesday. Britain had planned to offer a resolution for mandatory economic sanctions against Rhodesia to the Security Council today, but further consultations aimed at reconciling the British and African views may delay the resolution a day or so.

The council was to meet at 5 p.m. EST to take up the Rhodesian crisis.

An informant who sat in on the caucus Wednesday said it appeared that most of the Africans would insist on a tough resolution intended to bring down Prime Minister Ian Smith's white-minority Rhodesian government.

Brown told the group he had no cut-and-dried resolution and was open to suggestions. But he pointed out that it would not be wise for the council to take any action it could not enforce.

Brown told the Africans the British cabinet had authorized him to consider a limited embargo on oil but he stressed the view that a ban on Rhodesian exports would be more readily enforceable.

South Africa
Any move to forbid oil shipments to Rhodesia would require Britain to challenge South Africa—a step the British government would prefer to avoid since Britain's trade with South Africa is almost $1 billion a year. South Africa has been supplying Rhodesia with most of its oil and has said it would continue "normal trade" with Rhodesia regardless of Security Council action.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson promised to ask for mandatory sanctions after his two-day talks with Smith last week failed to produce a settlement with Rhodesia. The colony declared itself independent 13 months ago rather than agree to British proposals for unhindered progress toward African majority rule and an end to racial discrimination.

38 Turkish Soldiers Die in Barracks Fire
ERZURUM, Turkey (AP) — A fire swept through a barracks filled with 100 sleeping soldiers Wednesday night, killing 38 and injuring 27, the Turkish army announced today.

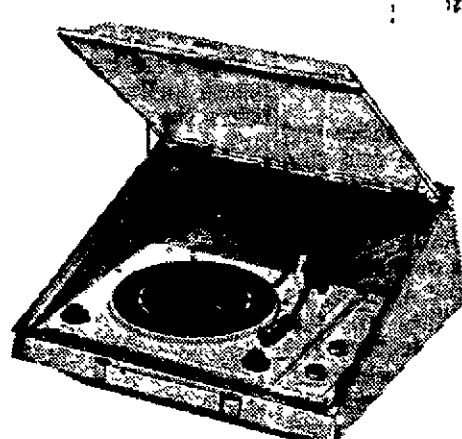

A gasoline can, placed too close to a stove, exploded. Erzurum is 650 miles east of Istanbul.

Modern 'Pilgrims' Take Religion to New Land

By ROYANNE REID
Harrison Daily Times
Written for
The Associated Press

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Out of step in a world they never made, a tiny band of pilgrims, unable to compromise their religious principles, are leaving the Ozarks for a new start in Central America.

Their minister, Harold Stoll, explained why his people had to move on.

"More and more we're out of line because of our simple way of living. We will fit in better in another country."

Although referred to as Mennonites by their neighbors in two north Arkansas counties, the colony of eight families is more akin to the Amish branch of the Mennonite Church.

The Amish is a strict sect which requires its members to eschew electricity, automobiles and any ornamentation in dress.

The men, with their beards and black suits and the women with their black bonnets and long skirts, have long been a familiar sight in Harrison, where they do their shopping.

Stoll is the leader of the colony from which three families have already departed for British Honduras. The remaining five families will leave next week.

Farm tools and household necessities will be trucked to New Orleans and shipped by boat to Central America, Stoll said. The families will go to Mexico City by train, and by bus the rest of the way to the jungle which awaits them.

Some of the younger people are saddened by the prospect of moving, but elders in the church feel they have no choice if they are to preserve their religion.

"We believe that the teaching of evolution is contrary to God's word," explained Stoll. "We do not believe that the emphasis on entertainment and sports is beneficial to the spiritual life. We cannot conscientiously send our children to public schools."

As he talked, he glanced out at the neat farmlands extending outward on all sides. They were proof of the industry of the Amish who cleared the rocky hillsides, using only their horse-drawn equipment — they own no machinery — and worked them by hand into such productive farms that all but 100 of their 1,200 acres have already been sold.

In 1949 the group, fleeing what they felt was an engulfing tide of materialism and sophistication in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana, came to Arkansas.

Each of the families bought 150 acres to farm, at $6 an acre. Hard work and thrift paid off this fall, when the same land sold for $50 an acre.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga.

Man Advises 'Show and Tell' Solution to Unusual Problem

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am interested in the letter from the man who wouldn't let his wife see him without a T-shirt. You said it was probably because he was brought up to feel ashamed of his body and that he should seek psychological help.

Why do you always go after the double-dome answer when the real answer might be very simple — like in my case. When I was young and foolish and in the Navy I got drunk and had a nude woman tattooed on my chest. I was ashamed of that tattoo and refused to take my shirt off in front of my wife for the first three months of our marriage.

Finally I told my doctor because it was making me sick with worry. He advised me to have a "Show and Tell Party" — and get it over with. I did and it worked out great. My wife was relieved because she knew something was wrong and couldn't figure it out.

I hope the man who wrote to you will take my advice before both he and his wife become nervous wrecks. — F J

Dear F.J.: Thanks for telling us how you handled your problem. But look, Bub, you had a tattoo to hide. I'm not sure this other fellow is keeping himself covered for that reason. If he is, I hope he takes your advice. If he isn't, I hope he takes mine.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Every year at Christmas and for our anniversary, my husband's sister gives us a cheap present that I can't use anywhere. What in the world can I do with a plaster of Paris bust of

Landers

President Johnson that stands 26 inches high and sells for $3.98? Last Christmas Sister sent a picture that you plug in and it glows in the dark. It takes up half the living room wall and is just plain grotesque. My husband says we have to keep it up or she will be offended. I need some help before I flip. — Mrs. Garbage Dump

Dear Mrs. Dump: You can't tell a person to stop sending junky gifts, no matter how grotesque.

I say 30 days on display should be enough for the pictures — and anything else you consider out of character in your home.

President Johnson could, of course, be brought back on state occasions, like when Sister comes to call.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why are people so afraid of mental therapy? Many cities have a mental health center that operates on a pay-as-you-go basis and the therapists are just waiting to help.

My husband became despondent after a heart attack. His physician recommended mental therapy. My husband said he wasn't nuts and refused to go. I told him that if he wouldn't go, I would go, because I had to have help in order to live with him.

I went to the clinic for help and it relaxed me so much that my husband decided to go. Now we get along together better than ever and we are both enjoying good health. Why don't you tell people? — MRS. E.C.

Dear Mrs. E.C.: I have told people, Honey — to the point where I have been accused of being a paid flack for the American Psychiatric Association.

I've said it before (like a thousand times), and I'll say it again. Some folks get nothing out of therapy but doctor bills. Others find a whole new life. If a person is miserable, he owes it to himself and his family to find out if he can fit the second category.

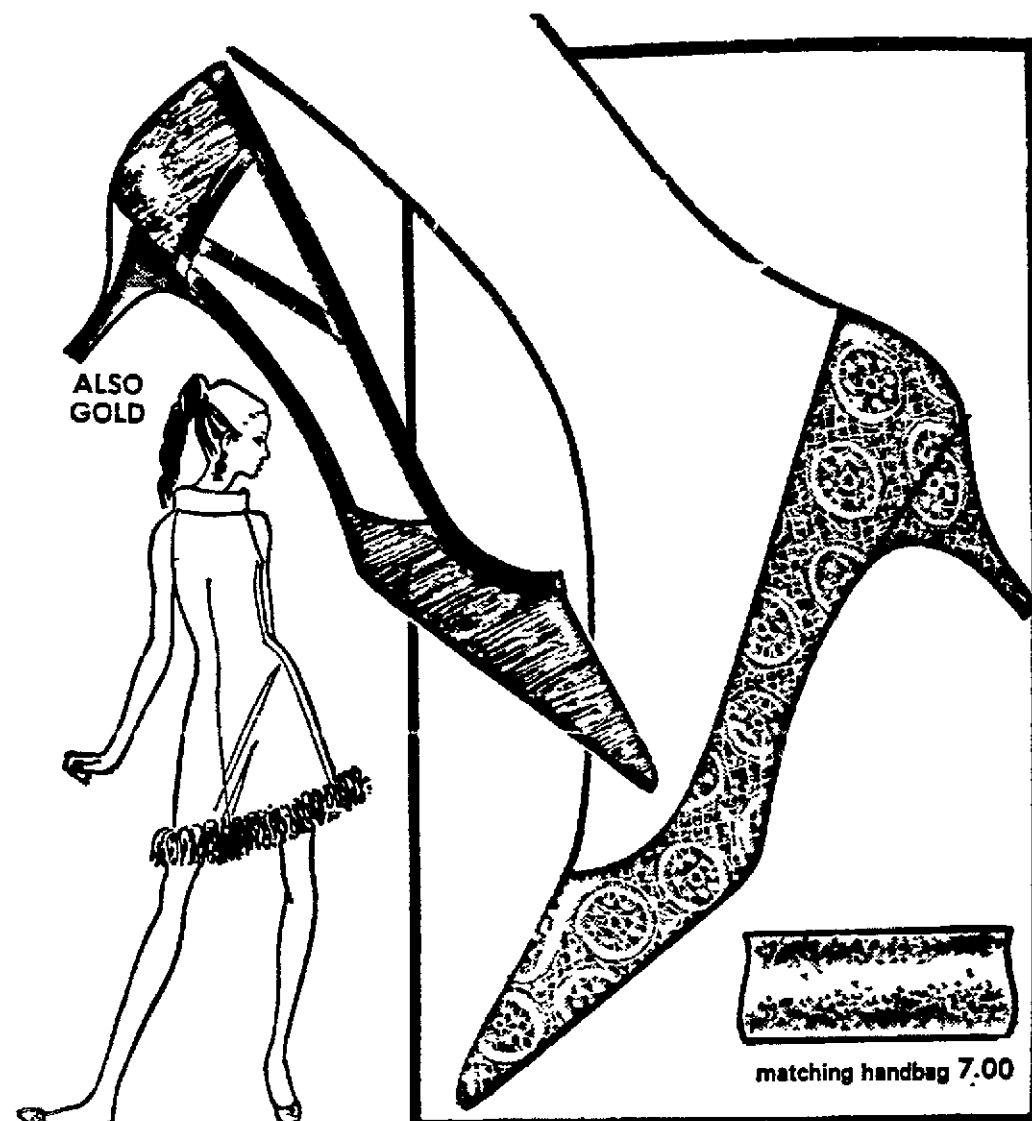

Does someone you love drink too much? What can you do about it? For some forthright answers, get the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright 1966)

Christmas Dilemmas

BY SYLVIE REICE
To give or not to give, that is the question, at Christmas. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer a bankrupt purse and not be embarrassed — or stick to budget and plan notwithstanding — that is the dilemma on which many people begin to hate the whole Christmas bit. Here are some of the typical

An expensive watch is really too much of an investment for a teen-age boy. But that doesn't mean you can't satisfy your girl friend's ycn. Watches, today, come in all styles, all prices. In fact, the fun watches that are most 'in' with teen girls are the large sporty ones and you can get these very inexpensively.

TEEN TALIZERS:

Mowtown's Four Tops (and their latest hit "Reach Out, I'll Be There") are really big in Englandw. They opened at Brian Epstein's new Saville Theater in London with John Lennon, Mick Jagger, Donovan, Jane Asher cheering them on opening night.

Beauty tip from Sonny Bono (Sonny & Cher): "I don't like women all made up. I think that's a general attitude of men. Some women can make-up and not look it. Cher makes up, but she doesn't look as if she does."

Really big in Detroit: navy nylon jackets. Boys and girls both wear them and put their names on the backs in bold white letters.

Packaged Soap Is Inexpensive

puzzlements that beset teens Noel after Noel, and some suggestions for how to put the joy back into Christmas giving.

"My steady told me he's gotten me something great for Christmas. Now I don't know what to do! First, I can't afford something equally great, nor can I even think of what it could be! Help!" — Annette S., Providence, R.I.

This is what I call the Christmas Trap — it's a syndrome that follows a pattern something like this: he's-giving-me - something - great - so - I - have-to - give - him - something - great" or he's - not - giving-me - anything - don't-have - to - give - him - something. Beware of that pitfall. Stick to your plan if it was based on sincerity to begin with. A steady boy friend's gift should receive more thought than that of casual dates, but need not necessarily be more expensive. Concentrate on something very personal for him—a signed photo of yourself in a sterling frame; a record album you both love; a bowling kit, (if you bowl together); anything monogram med . . .

"I'm really strapped this year — because I'm saving all my money for college. How am I ever going to face Christmas?" — Jimmy R., Miami, Fla.

Expand Card File

First, limit your Christmas gift list; expand the Christmas card file! Secondly, use your ingenuity to make inexpensive presents. For instance, a nicely shaped stone, painted brightly and decorated with an amusing saying turns out to be a wonderful paperweight. Make a half a dozen for friends. Give a girl one red rose; Give parents promises of services — IOU's for car-washes, dish-washes, etc.; Buy dimestore coffee mugs in solid colors, customize them with your friends' names. A bit of do-it-yourself will save you money, make your gift appreciated, too.

"How do I know which boys to give gifts to? If a boy has dated me a number of times, should he get a gift, for instance?" — Louise R., Dallas, Tex.

Frankly, you give a gift to that boy whom you want to give a gift to — it's that simple! There really are no regulations about Christmas giving, just the desire to give. So, you're free to make your own decisions. If you do decide to give those casual dates gifts, make them equally as casual. The quality of a gift should, in a way, be in equal ratio to whom you're giving it.

"I know my girl wants a watch for Christmas, but my folks feel it's too much money to spend. We've been going together since last spring — and she bought me this terrific birthday present." — Miles D., Philadelphia, Pa.

MENASHA — The engagement of Miss Mary Elizabeth McMahon to William Alexander Jones has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jeremiah John McMahon, Roslyn Heights, N. Y. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mrs. Douglas Gunderson, 311 Cleveland St., and the late William C. Jones. Miss McMahon was graduated from Our Lady of Mercy ned.

Ice Cream and Cookies are welcome any time of the year, but all children find them special at Christmas time. Below Mrs. Isabelle Feavel serves. Tim Sturm, Billy Merkl and Mary Alger, who lives in Kaukauna. At right,

Jill Roeder and Scott Vanden Boogart, Little Chute, take their choice of mittens offered by Mrs. Harold Christen and Charles Hervey. (Post-Crescent Photos)

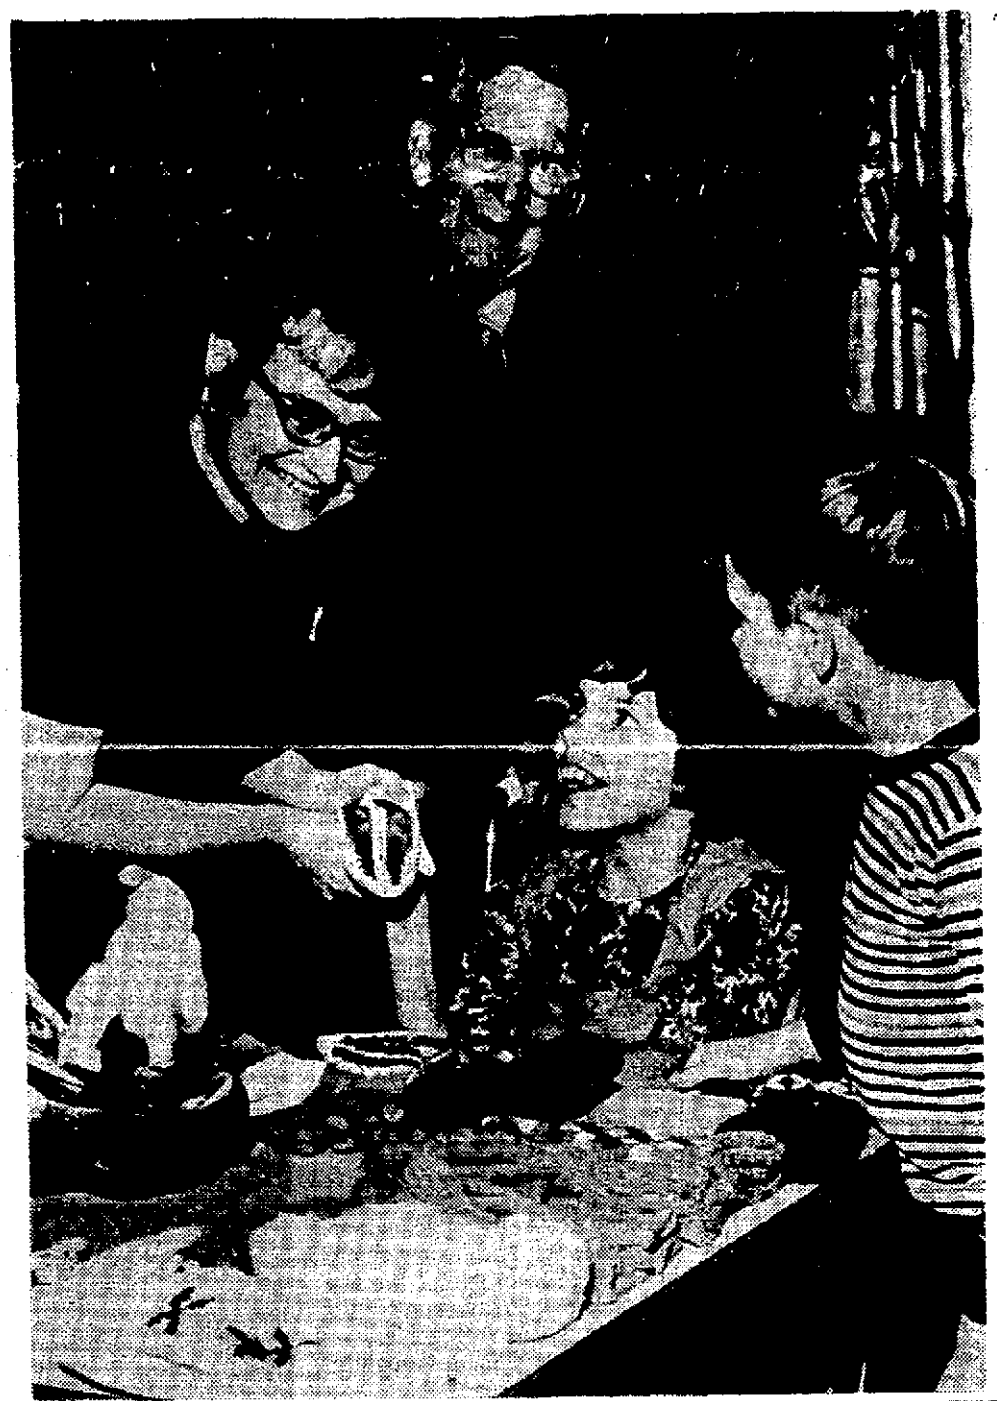

Pythians Fete Morgan Children

Happiness isn't always spelled 'P-a-r-t-y' but it was Monday afternoon at Morgan School when the Pythian Sisters held their annual Christmas party for the children. Such treats as ice cream, homemade cookies and apples provided only part of the treat. The rest of it came from music furnished by Mrs. Melvin Ruth and her accordion and a pair of new mittens, provided by Zwicker Knitting Mills and presented to each child by Charles Hervey.

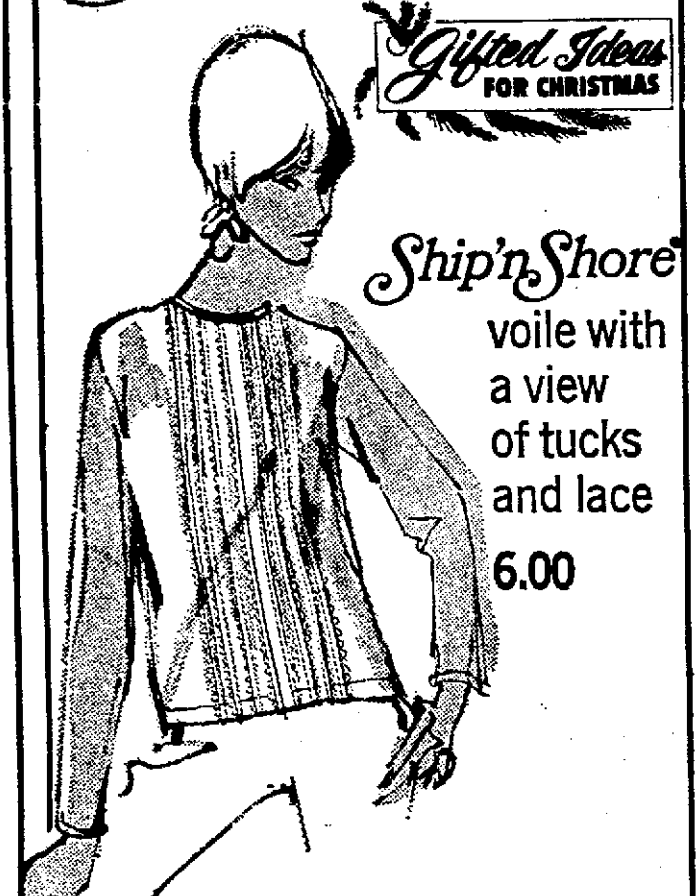

The party is given each year on St. Nicholas Day. It is only one of the ways the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters have supported Morgan School. Since 1949 the groups have donated a filmstrip and slide projector, therapeutic weights, a tape recorder, five electric typewriters, six wheelchairs, a mat platform, an adding machine, a standing stabilizer, a therapy cabinet, a posture mirror, a radio and other office and orthopedic equipment.

The party continues to be the highlight of the Sisters' efforts for the children, however, for it is then that laughter can be heard, smiles appreciated and 'thank you' whispered.

The Pythian Sisters visited the Outagamie County Golden Age Home and Hospital and Appleton City Home Dec. 1, serving refreshments and leading Christmas singing. The group will also distribute baskets to the needy during the season.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Personal Touch

What the thought is to the deed, a personal touch is to a gift. And none is more sure than a wrapping that bows to the tastes or interests of the recipient.

With designs ranging from traditional to ultra modern, gift wrapping papers offer enormous possibilities for the individual note. Wrappings also are a source of package trims of the kind that say "For you alone." Consider these ideas:

To delight a child, use a gift wrap laden with Christmas goodies — cookies, candies, and gingerbread men — and trim with a paper gingerbread chef. Make him by covering a salt box with the wrap; add a foam head and cap it with a red tissue paper chef's hat.

Intrigue males, any age, with toy drum decor. Drums are made on ribbon spools. After cutting off overlapping edges, cover top and bottom of spools with shiny red paper; build sides with red-and-green countrychecked paper, using two strips pasted back to back. Band with green lustre-tie. For drumsticks glue beads on colored toothpicks.

To enchant a lovely, wrap with gold fashion foil and trim with golden reindeer. The creatures are devised with small match boxes covered with foil.

and pipe cleaners-slipcovered with lustre-cord. A box forms the body; legs, tail and antlers are attached by punching tiny holes in the body and gluing in the covered pipe cleaners.

But do work up your own ideas. Your touch is the touch that's valued.

Good Grooming Pays Dividends

Never underestimate the importance of personal good grooming.

The little time it takes to bathe and wash your face or shampoo your hair pays enormous dividends. Even if you have to stay up a few extra minutes in order to launder a pair of gloves or a blouse, the favorable impression you make the next day will make it worth while.

The Ailing House Shine Bell With Polish To Glitter

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have an old school bell which has become weathered. If I paint it, will it muffle the ring?

A: Even with several coats, you'll still hear it loud and clear. Another suggestion: Why not shine up this old bell with metal polish, then preserve the glitter by a coat of clear lacquer? Sure, you may have to renew every now and then. But that's not much to do—especially when the bell will look so much better than hidden behind a coat of paint.

Q: Is there any particular way to paint a window?

A: Believe it or not, there is. At least, that's what the experts claim, and here's the favorite order: First the dividers, followed in order by the horizontal sashes, vertical sashes, the verticals of the frame and the horizontal frame and sill. Authority for this is the National Paint, Varnish & Lacquer Association, and I see no reason to differ.

P.S. Unless you have justified faith in your steady hand, first run masking tape along any edges where you don't want paint to stray.

Q: I'm considering aluminum siding to cover my 40-year-old house. At present it's covered with clapboard in bad shape, and the walls are not insulated. Should I have insulated siding or plan?

A: Even though your present siding will act like insulation under the new aluminum siding, I'd still go for the insulated type of siding. Call it general principles, if you wish.

Wedding Plans Announced by Miss Danielson

KLUG — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Danielson have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ardyce Karen, to Paul J. Ruder. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mrs. Philip Ruder, route 4, Marshfield.

Miss Danielson, a graduate of Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point, is a primary teacher in the Kimberly Public School System. Her fiancé is a senior majoring in forest conservation at Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point.

The couple plans an August wedding.

Silver Gift To Reflect The Future

'Tis the silver season, and that makes it the perfect time for a teen-age girl to start her sterling service. The man for her home-to-be may not yet have appeared, but the appeal of silver will bring closer all the loveliness of that future home.

The jeweler's shop is stocked this Christmas with selections to help you make her dreams come true.

If she hasn't chosen a sterling flatware pattern yet, you can join her in the joyful and exciting expedition of finding her first pieces. A single place setting for Christmas will be but the beginning of the beautiful table service she can build through the years. The Jewelry Industry Council recommends the following suggestions for selecting silver.

Study Patterns

Go to a reliable store. Here you will find an impressive range of patterns to study at leisure. Most important, you can be sure that the silver she selects will be of highest quality, and that her chosen pattern will be available in future years.

Try to keep her from becoming confused by "periods" of design. If she chooses the pattern she likes best, it will always be possible for her to plan the rest of her table around it. The timeless quality of fine silver in any style will always complement either traditional or contemporary china and crystal. Silver hollow ware, however, should usually be chosen to harmonize with flatware, whether modern or traditional.

Hollow Ware Pieces

If her heart is set upon her hopechest, you'll make her Christmas happy with hollowware. The best way to begin is with the elegance of basic pieces. The lustre of shining candlesticks, sauceboats, trays, and serving platters will put the stamp of sterling on her visions of the future.

A gift of silver will reflect her future in Christmases to come.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S 8, H K 8 6 5, D A J 10 6 2, C 9 8 6. What do you say?

Answer: Bid 1 NT. The hand is not strong enough for a response of two diamonds. If your partner opened with one heart, you would bid two diamonds first and show the heart support later. The strength of the hand depends quite a bit on how good a fit you have for your partner's suit.

South played the hearts and spades badly since he gave a trick in each suit to his enemy. If East is allowed to win a heart and a spade he cannot get two diamond tricks. As we have seen, West could and did produce two diamond tricks by leading through dummy's king.

South should refuse the first heart trick, win the second and lead the ten of spades for a finesse. If this happens to lose, the defenders can get only one heart, one spade and one diamond.

As the cards lie, however, the ten of spades would win. South continues with a spade to dummy's jack, the king of spades, and then gets to his hand with the ace of clubs to

Severe Sunburn Danger Persists in Winter Sports

Why talk about sunburn in midwinter?

Because outdoor winter sports, especially skiing, sometimes are accompanied by sunburn fully as severe as that of swimmers at the seashore in mid-summer.

Of course, the winter sunburn is confined to face and neck, rather than most of the body, but it can be just as painful on the exposed parts of the body as summer sunburn.

A magazine published by the American Medical Association, points out that the sunburning effect of sunshine is due in large part to the ultraviolet radiation that accompanies the visible light.

Filtering Process
These ultraviolet wave lengths, intense in outer space, are partially filtered by the atmosphere as they reach the earth. In the higher altitudes, the sunlight does not pass through so deep a layer of atmosphere, and so the burning effect is more intense. And another factor is reflected radiation bouncing off the bright snow cover.

Since overexposure to sunlight is, in general, injurious and hastens the aging of skin, purposeful exposure should be avoided. Protective clothing should be and usually is worn in winter, except in the heat of spring skiing.

There are a number of sun-screening agents which are helpful when applied to the skin. These include preparations containing benzophenones and preparations consisting of 15 per cent para-amino benzoic acid (PABA) in a cream base, as well as preparations containing physical sunscreens such as zinc oxide and titanium dioxide.

Apply Frequently
In general, the protective agents must be applied frequently because perspiration, rubbing and accidental falls into the snow will remove them.

Experienced skiers already have learned to beware of winter sunburn. Those heading for the slopes for the first time this season are cautioned to guard against burning.

Children's Party Planned by Jaycees

Tub Mattress Enhances Leisure

Are you a tub addict? Like to sit and soak in warm soapsuds? Perhaps read? Here's a hint for improvising a "mattress" to enhance leisurely leaning next time you take to the tub.

For this, fasten half of your regular rubber bath mat to the back of the tub via its suction cups, and the other half to the floor of the tub. This provides a soft seat and a warm backrest while you unwind from cares and tensions.

LAND O' LAKES BUTTER... CORN SYRUP... SUGAR

Easy as 1-2-3... delicious! Land O'Lakes Butter is the magic ingredient that gives this new candy its marvelous buttery flavor.

Nothing-to-it directions are printed inside each butter carton. So simple, even children can make Santapops, Holiday Spangles, Candy Canes, and more. By adding nuts, chocolate chips, popcorn—abracadabra!—you create elegant candies like Butter Toffee and Butter Crunch for gifts and treats. Eight variations in all!

Remember one thing. The success of your "Magic Candy" depends on Land O'Lakes Butter—churned from the sweetest, freshest cream. For this sensationally good candy, nothing less will do.

"MAGIC CANDY" BASIC RECIPE

¼ cup (½ stick) Land O'Lakes Butter
½ cup white corn syrup
¾ cup sugar

Combine in a heavy 1 quart saucepan. Cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture boils. Reduce heat slightly and continue cooking to 270° (soft crack stage). Remove from heat. Here are just two of the variations you can make from this recipe.

SANTAPOPS: Follow basic recipe. Add food color if desired. Drop from tablespoon over wooden sticks placed on lightly-buttered cookie sheet. Decorate while still hot. Cool completely before removing. Makes about 18 two-inch Santapops.

Postman Could Become Santa If Only He'd ...

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The postman would be a true Santa Claus if he brought this kind of holiday dream mail:
"Harry, this is just a hasty note to let you know that your Christmas bonus this year will be $1,000. I'd appreciate it if you'd keep the amount secret, as the rest of the staff are only getting $500 each. But your work this last year has been so outstanding that we—"
"Dear Dad, I don't want you to faint from the shock, but my college roommate and I are doing so well with that cleaning shop we opened just off the campus that we're rolling in loot. From now on I won't be needing that $75 a month you've been sending me. The way we're going now, I'll be able to handle my own tuition and room and board bills for the next semester. I am enclosing my check to you for $50 to buy yourself something nice for Christmas. Don't spend it all on bubble gum. Your son, Joe."

Drive It Home?
"Dear Brother Slurch, as chief totem of our lodge, it gives me heartfelt pleasure to inform you that you held the winning ticket in our annual lodge raffle to raise scholarship funds for underprivileged Bedouins. The first prize, you will remember, is a brand new four-door automobile. Would you care to drive it home yourself, or have us send it gift-wrapped as surprise to the other members of your family?"

"Dear sir, I am your neighbor down the hall. On the way down in the elevator yesterday morning I saw you shyly try to hide the startling new necktie someone obviously gave you for Christmas. Rather than trying to bury the necktie secretly or getting rid of it in some other underhanded manner, why don't you give it to me? I am a professor of clinical psychology, and believe I could use your necktie in one of the psychedelic experiments we are conducting. Certainly you'll agree your necktie is a psychedelic experience in itself to the unprepared eye, with or without the use of mind drugs."

Minks
"Dear Mr. Slurch, I regret to inform you that the one-of-a-kind pink pastel mink coat which Mrs. Slurch asked us to hold for your inspection was inadvertently sold to a millionaire from Brazil. Adding to our discomfort is the fact that another coat of its style, price and quality will be unavailable until next year. Hoping that at that time we will again be able to serve you, please accept our abject apologies and—"

"Dear sir: Although it is not our usual custom to lure executive talent from one of our competitors, the sudden retirement of one of our key vice presidents leaves vacant a post which we feel only one with your proved talents can fill suitably. In strict confidence, it pays roughly double what we estimate to be your present salary, plus use of the company yacht, paid membership in the country club of your choice, a liberal petty cash fund and—"

List Filled
"Dear Mr. Slurch: As manager of the Jamboree Night Club, I am answering your wife's letter for two reservations at our annual New Year's Eve party at $75 a head, drinks extra. Unfortunately, our reservations list has already been filled for that evening, so—"

"Dear Harry, I hope you don't mind the informality of my addressing you by your first name, but out our way they say if you don't know a fellow by his first name, you don't know him at all. Well, it gets kind of lonely in Texas this time of year, and if you and your family have never spent Christmas on a ranch, Lady Bird and I kind of wondered if—now don't bother stopping off at the store for any barbecue sauce. We got plenty."

LBJ Becoming More Remote From Public

Reluctance to Talk About Actions Keeps Popularity Falling

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There has been a strange development in President Johnson which may have gone unnoticed because, while he may seem to be talking as much as ever, he really isn't.

He has been talking in news conferences for months here in Washington or in Texas or elsewhere but that is scattered talk on a variety of subjects, not detailed and not in any sense full explanations on serious subjects.

He has not been making sustained speeches or explanations as he did in his early White House days. As a result he has become more remote from the people.

And as a result of that his popularity and the public's confidence in him have sagged. For example, it has been a long time since he took the airways to talk to the nation about Viet Nam.

Economic News

All that's been coming out of Texas about the economy so far is a jumble. He will, of course, have plenty of time and opportunity to be clear and specific about this in his budget and economic and State of the Union messages.

Meanwhile, a rather puzzled public waits. But that he is losing ground with the public was illustrated in two public opinion polls published this week by George Gallup and Louis Harris.

The latest Gallup poll, which at the beginning of 1966 showed 63 per cent approving the way Johnson did his job, showed only 48 per cent did, although this was a 4 point increase from October.

Gallup attributed the downward trend to disenchantment with the "Great Society" and the course of the war in Viet Nam. In the latest survey 43 per cent said they approved Johnson's handling of the war, 40 per cent didn't.

But the Harris poll was even gloomier. Harris found only 42 per cent approved Johnson's handling of the war, a 7 point drop since his trip to the Manila conference in October.

Harris also found only 35 per cent approved his handling of the economy, a 34 per cent drop in a year. And — an earlier Harris survey had Johnson trailing Republican George Romney, recently elected to a third term as Michigan's governor, in pairings for the presidency.

Lodge Interviewed

That the people have reason to be puzzled by the war, wondering when it will end, and seeing no end in sight, was justified by an interview given recently by Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Lodge said "I think you could say that we cannot lose, we cannot be pushed out. I think you could say we have not won yet. I think you could say they (the enemy) cannot win."

He said the war "just might fade away but nobody knows." That's not throwing much light on it. And Johnson has never thrown much light on it.

For months he let the critics of the war, like two Democratic senators, J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Wayne Morse of Oregon, fill the vacuum of public information without saying much himself except scattered statements.

It is known that one reason he didn't answer the critics by making full dress explanations is that he felt the critics represented only a small part of public thinking. Now, apparently, the polls tell him otherwise.

Still, there's no indication he will change his course. But this is only part of the changed picture of this man who used to do so much public talking and explaining but then, in the midst of the last political campaign, did a minimum of campaigning for his party and, instead, went off to Manila to discuss Viet Nam.

If he wants to be re-elected he will have to make big changes.

Jobless Compensation Payments in State Total $1.2 Million

MADISON (AP) — Jobless compensation payments in Wisconsin during November amounted to $1,260,900, compared with $890,000 paid a month earlier and $1,378,700 in November last year, the Industrial Commission reported Wednesday.

At the end of last month 19,900 workers were unemployed and claiming benefits.

The commission also noted that it paid out $200,000 in November for residents undergoing training under the Federal Manpower Development and Training act.

FVL Duels Racine At Home, Wayland On Foreign Court

Foxes Seek to Break Into MPC Victory Column Friday Night

MIDWEST PREP CONFERENCE
Milwaukee Lutheran
Racine Lutheran
Concordia
Wisconsin Lutheran
Fox Valley Lutheran
Wayland Academy
University School
Northwestern Prep

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fresh from a fantastic comeback triumph over Menasha St. Mary last Sunday, the Fox Valley Lutheran Foxes return to Midwest Prep Conference action this weekend with a pair of games.

Coach Gerhard Kaniess' quintet entertains Racine Lutheran Friday night. Then hits the road to tangle with Wayland Academy in Beaver Dam Saturday evening. The Foxes' home affair with Racine gets underway at 8:15.

Milwaukee Lutheran, which stomped Wayland last week, 68-44, travels to Watertown to meet Northwestern, Wayland is at Milwaukee Concordia, and Wisconsin Lutheran plays an intra-city contest with Milwaukee University School to round out the league's schedule. Wisconsin Lutheran beat FVL, 62-54, Racine raced past Northwestern, 84-68, and Concordia whipped University School, 72-60, in other first round games.

Renewed Hope
Now owning a 1-2 overall mark, the Foxes are banking on the momentum generated from their 58-57, double-overtime conquest of the Zephyrs. FVL staged a torrid rally in the fourth quarter to tie the game after trailing by 15 points in the early moments of the final frame.

Kaniess is hoping the victory may be the spark the Foxes need to make a dent in the MPC race.

Both FVL foes will be bent on avenging double losses to the Foxes last year. Racine was a Fox Lutheran victim, 80-63, and 67-56, while the Racine club dropped 73-57 and 76-74 contests.

Racine Lutheran probably poses the biggest problem, in terms of both height and scoring power. It had all five starters in double figures in blasting Northwestern, with 6-2 forward Pat Schmidt the leader with 20 points. Hunking center Dan Koepnick (6-5, 225-pounds) hit 18, Erv Mark (5-10) 16, and guards Mark Josse (6-1) and Pat French (5-8) added 16 and 10 markers, respectively.

Young Team
In Wayland Academy, the Foxes will be facing a young club, where new coach Ron Blomberg has decided to go with three sophomores in the starting lineup along with a junior and a senior. The senior is 6-2 dandy, Don Downs, who tallied 15 points in the loss to Milwaukee Lutheran. Brian Lally (5-7) is the junior at guard, where Jim Cape (5-10) is running mate. John Meyer (6-0) is at the other forward, and the pivot belongs to Pat Patterson (6-3).

Wayland also lost last Saturday night to St. John's Military Academy, 75-69.

By The Associated Press
You can say one thing for Rick Barry: he doesn't let missing a few bounces bother him. The San Francisco forward, who leads the National Basketball Association in scoring by a wide margin, had his problems in the Warriors' 116-106 loss at Baltimore Wednesday night. After scoring 47 points against New York Tuesday night, Barry was held to 21 by the Bullets and only managed to connect on eight of 33 shots from the floor. The latter figure shows that miss them or not, Barry kept on shooting.

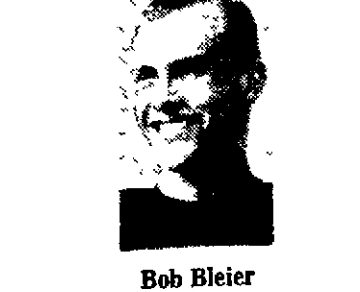

In the meantime, the Bullets, playing their first game under new coach Gene Shue, raced off to a 20-5 lead in the opening moments, fell behind early in the third period and then staged a winning rally at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

In other NBA games, Boston beat Cincinnati 119-91, New York edged Detroit 118-116, Philadelphia took Chicago 117-103 and Los Angeles outlasted St. Louis 130-128 in overtime.

Appleton's Bob "Rocky" Bleier has been elected captain of the Notre Dame University football team for the 1967 season, school officials announced today.

Formal announcement of

Bob Bleier

Bleier's selection was to come at the annual banquet for the football team at South Bend tonight.

Election of the team captain is handled by the Monogram Club at Notre Dame and a two-third majority vote is required.

On a Hunch Don Shula Might Start Matte, but Not With Unitas Ready

BALTIMORE (AP) — If Don Shula played hunches, he might be tempted to gamble with Tom Matte at quarterback Saturday when his Baltimore Colts make their last big stand against Green Bay But you don't play hunches when you have John Unitas, sore arm or no.

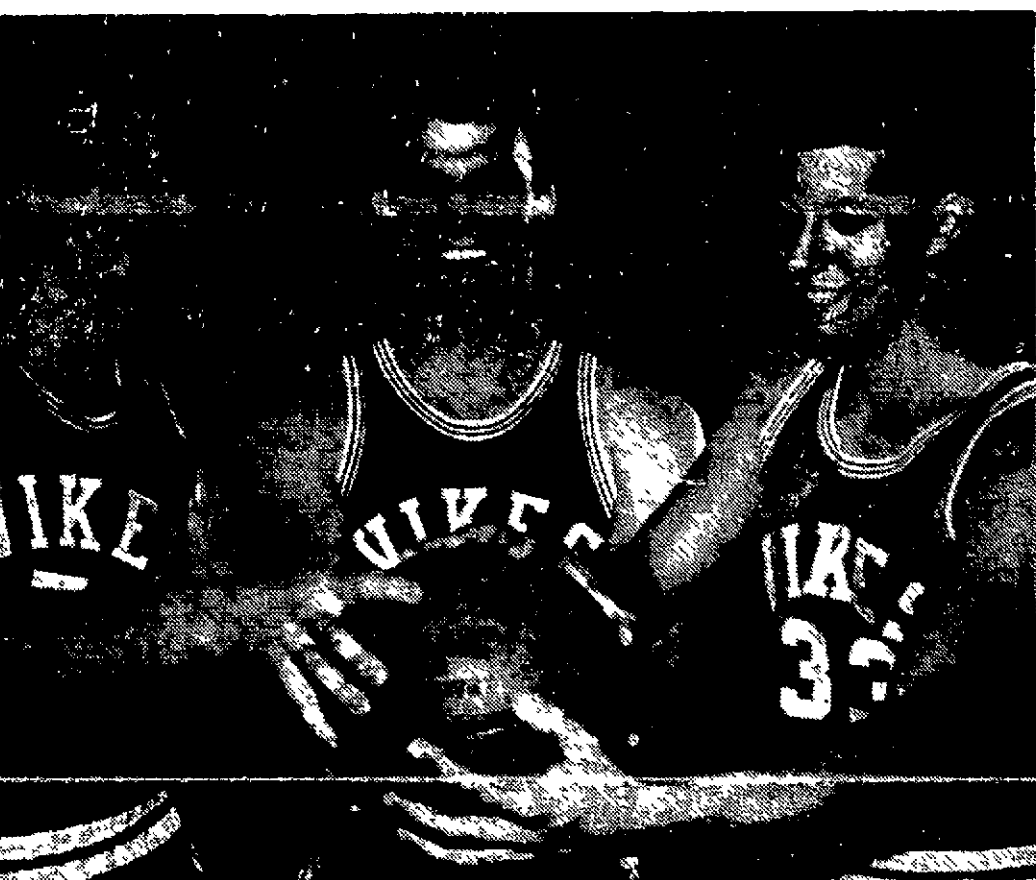

Scramblers like Francis Tarkenton of Minnesota and George Mira of San Francisco usually give the Packers fits. It is notable that the only quarterbacks to beat the Pack this year were Tarkenton, 20-17, on Nov. 6 and Mira, 21-20, on Oct. 9.

Although Tarkenton failed to do it again in their Nov. 27 rematch, he threw a scare into Green Bay and kept the Vikings alive until Herb Adderley finally picked off that last desperation pass.

Did Good Job
Matte is no Tarkenton, nor even a Mira. He retired as a quarterback after the Playoff Bowl last January. But Tom did a job for the Colts when he filled in after Unitas and Gary Cuozzo were injured last fall.

When the Packers, trailing the Colts by a half-game, came into Baltimore last year at this same time of the season, Unitas was on the sidelines, propped up by a crutch. Cuozzo suffered a shoulder separation in the third quarter of a game in which Paul Hornung suddenly came to life and scored five touchdowns in a 42-27 romp.

It was Matte in the last part of the Packer game and Matte again against Los Angeles when

Whitewater Drilling for Title Contest

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Whitewater, Wis., State and Waynesburg, Pa. College began putting on the finishing touches today for their meeting Saturday for the NAIA football championship.

Waynesburg arrived late Wednesday and whipped through a fast limbering up drill. Coach Carl Depasqua planned two more drills today.

Whitewater Coach Forrest Perkins, whose team arrived Tuesday and practiced twice Wednesday, said he probably will hold only one workout today.

If good weather continues, the game shapes up as an aerial battle between the two undefeated and untied small college powers.

Whitewater passed at least 25 times in each of its 10 games this season. Waynesburg, although it depends more on a ground game, put the ball in the air 30 times last week in a come-from-behind 30-27 NAIA semifinal win over New Mexico Highlands.

The Badgers outscored Cincinnati from the floor and led the Bearcats by as much as 10 points before fading. Erickson said: "What we've been working on basically this week is drive. We're scoring enough field goals but we've got to get more drive in our game. We've got to get to the free throw line more often."

do the same this week with Hill and Lorick helping to pick up the blitz to give Unitas protection against that boisterous Green Bay defense.

Vikings Seek 2nd Victory Of Campaign

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Lawrence University ranked among the Wisconsin small-college elite in football, and the Vikings are hopeful of achieving similar success in basketball.

The Clyde Rusk-coached Vikes passed their first intrastate test — a 75-72 victory over Milton College.

Stage 2 of the state crusade comes up at 7:30 p.m. Friday when Carroll College's quintet invades Alexander Gym.

Wisconsin rivals include Carthage and St. Norbert (booked for the Holiday tournament) as well as Midwest Conference foes Ripon and Beloit.

Friday's game will be Lawrence's first official home start of the 1966-67 season (the Vikes varsity met the freshmen several weeks ago), and it will be the Vikes' last appearance until the Dec. 29-30 tournament.

Carroll, which will play Lawrence for the first time in many years, is seeking to rebuild from a 2-20 campaign last season. And the Cliff Juedes-coached Pioneers are a good bet to succeed if their opening game is any indication. Carroll beat Elmhurst, 105-95.

Chuck Weinkauf, a 6-foot guard, scored 2 points for Carroll. Greg Hays, a 6-7 freshman center, contributed 24 points, and freshman Tom Collopy (6-1) tallied 23. Gary Bosak (6-0) teams with Weinkauf at guard, while Greg Smith (6-5) or Bob Coulter (6-3) will be at the forward opposite Collopy. This is one of the tallest teams Carroll has had.

The Vikes will probably start 6-4 Steve Simon, 6-4 Bob Townsend and 6-2 Don Brooke in the forward, with 5-10 Dick Schultz and 6-0 Brian Bock at guards. Slated for early duty are 6-8 Brad Childs, 6-2 Mike Andrews and 5-10 Dennis Kirchoff.

Leg Injury Won't Sideline Lew Alcindor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Alcindor, UCLA's 7-foot-1 basketball star, suffered a leg injury in last Saturday's Southern California game but probably will be able to start against Duke this weekend, Coach John Wooden said Wednesday.

Wooden said Alcindor received an accidental kick to the lower calf of his right leg in the Bruins' 105-90 win over USC in Los Angeles.

Some key battles are on tap this weekend as a 5-game slate of contests faces Fox Valley Catholic Conference teams over a 2-day stretch.

Defending champion Appleton Xavier entertains Fond du Lac Springs Friday night and travels to Marinette Central on Saturday night. The Marinette quintet is at Abbot Pennings Friday before clashing with the Hawks.

Oshkosh Lourdes will visit Little Chute St. John Friday and the other Saturday contest finds St. Mary Menasha at Premontre in Green Bay.

Premontre Wins
Last night Premontre came through with a narrow 44-42 victory over Marinette to take over the conference lead with a 2-0 record. The Cavaliers skidded to the basement with their second straight setback.

When Xavier rolls out the carpet for the Ledgers of St. Mary Springs Friday, the Hawks will have the memory of a defeat lingering over their heads. Springs handed the Hawks a 60-57 loss near the close of the conference campaign last February and it was the only setback for Xavier in 14 league games.

Xavier will not have to contend with the likes of Tom Shaw, Mike Flasch, Paul Harbridge and Ron Murphy when Springs comes to town Friday night. This quartet, which played a key role in the upset of the Hawks, have graduated and Coach Don Gosz is in the midst of a rebuilding program.

Springs was handed a 51-34 defeat by Abbot Pennings last Saturday and then Tuesday night was thumped by a strong Madison Edgewood team, 74-30. Xavier has a 6-0 mark for the season, five wins against non-conference foes, and last weekend dealt Lourdes a 59-39 setback in the conference opener.

Lourdes and St. John will both be looking for their initial league win. The Dutchmen, who

'Best-Ball' 63 Tops $275,000 PGA Team Tourney

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — The dynamic duo of pro golf, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, take a one-stroke lead into the second round of the richest-ever $275,000 PGA team championship today.

Proving again that the cure for a bogey is a birdie, the Nicklaus-Palmer team carded a best-ball 63 Wednesday on the "monster" 6,896-yard East course of the PGA National Golf Club.

They bogeyed the 380-yard fourth hole in rain Wednesday but came back with 10 birdies between them to grab the lead in a field of 120 teams aiming at the $50,000 winner's purse. After Friday's round, only the top 60 teams will remain in contention.

One stroke back at 64 were the partnerships of Jay and Lionel Hebert, Bert Weaver and Wes Ellis, Chris Blocker and Howie Johnson, Tom Shaw and Joe Carr.

Seven teams were tied at 65 after the opening round and 15 were three strokes off the pace with 66.

Starr Modest About Award

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (TAP) League —From the way Bart Starr talked, there was nothing special about it.

He had just completed 13 of 24 passes for 236 yards and a touchdown and scored a touchdown himself in leading the Green Bay Packers to a 20-7 win over San Francisco.

The statistics would have been impressive on any Sunday, but Starr compounded them with a howling wind, sleet and an ice-glazed field. "It was bad on that skinned (baseball infield) part of the field but other than that it was no different than playing under any other poor conditions," said Starr, who mentioned other games played in snow and driving rain by the Packers and other teams.

Player of Week
"You just have to make the best of the elements," he said. Starr completed five out of five throws for 58 yards to cap a touchdown drive that ended with him The Associated Press "Offensive Player of the Week" award in the National Football touchdown, which came after Jim Taylor and Elijah Pitts began skidding on the ice. "We had run out of ideas on what to do," Starr recalled. "And it would have been a shame not to have scored down there because of the elements." Starr preferred to talk about others — even the officials, whom, he said, "did a fine job of keeping the ball dry." He praised his pass protection and the Green Bay defense. "Holding that team to seven points is really an achievement," Starr said.

Starr was apologetic about his

Cubs Get Culp in Trade

Ellsworth Hopes Luck Will Change With Phils

CHICAGO (AP) — They call him southpaw Dick Ellsworth the unlucky pitcher, a tag that may vanish when he changes from a Chicago Cubs' to a Philadelphia Phillies' baseball uniform next season.

The Cubs traded their one-time $50,000 bonus baby from Fresno, Calif., to the Phils Wednesday for right-hander Ray Culp and a substantial sum of cash.

In seven seasons with the

Ellsworth Culp

Cubs, the tall, stoop-shouldered Ellsworth was often left dangling because of errors or shabby hitting. He seemed always to be scratching to win with very few, if any, runs.

His record was 84-110, the high-point being when he was 22-10 in 1963 to become the first lefty to win 20 games for the Cubs since Hippo Vaughn in 1920.

Lost 55 Games
In the last three seasons, the 26-year-old Ellsworth lost 55 and won only 36, driving 59 8-22 in 1966.

A change in uniforms may help Ellsworth," said Cub Manager Leo Durocher. "We needed another right-handed starter and Culp, a year younger than Dick, fills the bill. "I like those hard-throwing guys like Culp. A fellow who doesn't throw hard has to have pinpoint control in Wrigley Field or he's going to get killed. Culp can fire the ball.

Culp was 7-4 last season and

Still No Decision on Date for Super Bowl; Rozelle Negotiating

Television Rights For Late Playoffs Biggest Stickler

NEW YORK (AP)—The entire schedule of post-season pro football games, including the Super Bowl at the Los Angeles Coliseum, is hanging fire while Commissioner Peter Rozelle negotiates with the television networks.

As of now the American Football League title game still is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 26 in Boston or Buffalo against the Kansas City Chiefs.

The National Football League title game is set for Sunday, Jan. 1 in the home park of the Eastern Conference winner which could be Dallas, St. Louis or Cleveland. Dallas, of course, has a one-game lead with only two games to play.

The Playoff Bowl, between the two second-place teams in the NFL is scheduled Sunday, Jan. 8 in Miami's Orange Bowl. The Pro Bowl or NFL All-Star game is supposed to be played Sunday Jan. 15 in Los Angeles.

So much for the original schedule.

Contracts In Way
The National Broadcasting Company now is in the second year of a five-year contract with the AFL which was signed long before the leagues decided to merge. As part of the deal NBC pays $6 million for five years of championship and all-star game telecasts. They do not break it down as to games.

The Columbia Broadcasting System is in the first year of a two-year contract with the NFL under which it pays $2 million for the league title game. The contract has a one-year renewal option.

The American Broadcasting Company has no present tie with pro football and televised the regular college schedule.

With a bevy of lawyers involved on all sides, nobody is talking for the record in this involved hassle. However, it is understood that at least one of the networks carrying the pro games is disturbed about having bought the rights to its league's title game which now turns out to be a semifinal to the Super Bowl.

$2.5 Million Super Bowl
It is reported the negotiating price for the Super Bowl is $2.5 million.

There has been talk of moving the AFL game to Dec. 31 or Jan. 1, possibly in a unique doubleheader type schedule with the AFL coming from Boston or Buffalo early and the NFL game following later on another network.

Rozelle has said he would prefer a two-week break between the title games and the Bowl which would bring date to Jan. 15 if they go together on league playoffs 31-Jan. 1. In that event Playoff Bowl in Miami could on Jan. 8 as scheduled, the er Bowl Jan. 15 and the Bowl could be moved back week to Jan. 22. Another bility is a Jan. 8 Super Bowl a Jan. 7 night game at Mia the Playoff Bowl.

It is understood that it been suggested that both and CBS share the Super using a pool of cameras separate announcers and course, separate comm ABC, of course, is eager to off the plum, too.

While Rozelle hurries one meeting to another, it mors are that NBC is agree to a pooled game but CBS i

The Paper You Need Most—to Know

Irish, Spartans Dominate AP All-America Selections

Eddy, Jones Teamed With Farr, Spurrier in Offensive Backfield

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame, the national champion, and Michigan State, the runner-up, each placed three men on the Associated Press All-America football team announced today.

They are Tom Regner, offensive guard, Nick Eddy, offensive back, and Jim Lynch, line-backer, from Notre Dame; and Clint Jones, offensive back, Bubba Smith, defensive end, and George Webster, defensive back from Michigan State.

Steve Spurrier of Florida, the Heisman Award winner, heads up the offensive backfield as quarterback and Mel Farr, UCLA, rounds it out.

The team was based on recommendations of the AP football board of sports writers and sportscasters, who also voted weekly on the Top Ten teams.

Huge Team

The 1966 team is a mammoth one, with Smith at 266 the largest, but it also includes Frank Loria of Virginia Tech, 175-pound junior defensive back. Next smallest is Ray Perkins, Alabama's 184-pound offensive end. Alabama placed a second man on the team in the person of Cecil Dowdy, offensive tackle. Nebraska also had two on the first team: LaVerne Allen, offensive guard, and Wayne Meylan, defensive middle guard.

Webster, termed by Coach Duffy Daugherty "the finest defensive player we've ever had," is one of three repeaters from 1965 on the first team, the others being Loyd Phillips of Arkansas and George Patton of Georgia, defensive tackles.

Spurrier, widely sought after in professional football because of his size—6-foot-2 and 206 pounds—and skill, completed 179 out of 291 passes for 2,012 yards and 16 touchdowns and an average of 61.5 per cent. The Florida coach, Ray Graves, declared he "is not only the best quarterback I ever coached, he's the best I've ever seen."

Eddy Averaged 7.1

Eddy, at 195 the smallest member of the offensive backfield, had an amazing average of 7.1 yards a carry, but his total of 553 reflected the fact he lost some playing time due to injuries and was taken out of games when Notre Dame built a commanding lead.

Farr gained 809 yards during the season for an average of 5.9, Jones 784 for a 4.3 average. In Michigan State's 10-10 tie with Notre Dame, Jones was used principally as a blocker.

Webster drew unusual praise not only from his own coach but from opponents. Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame pointed to his "unusual height"—6-4 and 213 pounds—and said this "with his speed enables him to drop back and cover on passes." Daugherty declared "Alex Agase of Northwestern told me they called all their plays at the line of scrimmage after they saw where Webster was playing, and tried to run away from him. But Alex said he still was the greatest defensive player he's seen."

34-Match Schedule in 1967

Pro Soccer Loop Ready to Go

CHICAGO (AP) — The new National Professional Soccer League has announced it is ready to open a 34-match schedule for each of its 10 teams in April and has a 10-year, multi-million dollar television agreement with the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS).

Directors and alternate directors of the league met in Chicago Wednesday. President Robert S. Hermann of St. Louis said the exact amount of the TV contract would be announced by CBS prior to the season opening.

He said that divisional play-offs and the championship game will all be televised nationally and will be held after a 19-week season ending Sept. 3. During the regular season, CBS will televise a Game of the Week each Sunday.

The NPSL will open a year ahead of the North American Soccer League, which claims sole sanction of the United States and International Federation Soccer Associations.

Hermann said all 10 league clubs have signed coaches and about one-third of 200 prospective players scouted mainly in Europe.

Representatives of each team, plus Sir George Graham, former head of the Scottish Football Association, who is executive secretary of the new circuit, attended the meeting.

The league includes Los Angeles, San Francisco, St. Louis, Chicago and Toronto in the Western Division and Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New York, Atlanta and Baltimore in the Eastern Division.

Proposed franchises at San Diego and Hartford, Conn., were canceled.

"They weren't able to move quite fast enough with our program of signing coaches by September and some players by October," said Hermann. "They were just unable to meet the loop's tight organizational schedule."

"Applications from eight or 10 other cities will be considered next spring and the league probably will be expanded to 14 teams by 1968."

He said bids by Hartford, headed by Dwight Davis, one of the New York Baseball Mets' original backers, and San Diego, headed by Robert Littlefield, an investment broker, could be reconsidered later.

Kaukauna Slated to Meet Manitowoc In Regional Tourney

Kaukauna High School's basketball team will clash with Manitowoc in the first round of the Two Rivers regional tournament next March 3. (The reference to the Kaukauna game was inadvertently omitted, through a mechanical error, from Tuesday's tournament story.)

Manty by three, in a dramatic, see-saw battle on the Ship's court.

AHS, which also holds a non-league win over Kimberly, has averaged 56.6 points, while allowing 51.

Bob Simon paces the Terrors in league scoring, with 31 points. George Hoffman ranks second, with a total of 24. They will start Friday, along with Gary Lutz, Tom Hintz and either Pat Garvey or Tom Jones.

Garvey, a second-team all-conference pick last season, saw comparatively little action in the game at Manitowoc. Jones, a big sophomore, went most of the way and handled himself well in his first "pressure" game. Hintz was an outstanding rebounder.

Has Scored 31

Southwest, coached by Jerry Eckman, has balanced scoring. Junior Dave Froistad has scored 31 points in the two league games, while Red Anderson has 30 (24 of which came in the Fond du Lac upset) and Gary Ecke has 29. Bill Farrell, a transfer from GBW, and Keith Goldschmidt are the other probable starters.

Sheboygan South's top threat is Steve Fischer, the league's No. 2 scorer. Fischer tallied 34 against North (in an 81-73 loss) and 17 against Fondy (in a 75-58 defeat). In the latter game, Fond du Lac led only 31-28, at halftime, then pulled away.

South's other leading scorers are Tom Ashworth, with 26; and Charley Simon, 23.

West takes a 2-season conference win streak of 20 games into its tussle with Manitowoc. Defending champion GBW has beaten Oshkosh and East in league play, while Manty (voted most likely to succeed in the 1966-7 race) has won over Preble and AHS.

Fond du Lac's Dick De Diener, who scored 35 points last Friday, has taken over the FRVC scoring lead, with a total of 52.

Diener, Fond du Lac's S. Fischer, South 14 19 7 47; Holz, North 18 6 7 42; Gutmann, West 12 14 6 38; Donarski, Preble 16 6 4 38; Lukas, East 12 9 5 35; Behrendt, West 13 7 2 30; Simon, Appleton 12 7 6 31; Froistad, Southwest 7 16 7 30; Teague, West 11 8 6 30; Anderson, Southwest 14 1 10 29; Ecke, Southwest 10 6 9 26; Kelly, Oshkosh 12 0 6 24; Winkler, North 11 2 5 24; Hackbart, Manitowoc 9 5 2 23; Weber, Oshkosh 9 3 8 23; Simms, South 9 3 8 22; Kleinschmidt, Oshkosh 8 6 8 22; Wilke, Manitowoc 10 3 7 21; Bross, North 6 9 5 21; Seppas, Manitowoc 8 5 3 21.

Weyauwega Looking For Grid Tilts in '67

WEYAUWEGA — Weyauwega High School is looking for a pair of football games for the 1967 season, according to Keith French, head coach.

The Indians have Sept. 1 and Sept. 22 open on their schedule, and interested schools can contact French at the high school.

Caldwell Motors Registers Nation's High Team Series

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — The Caldwell Motors bowling team of Sheboygan, with four members scoring over 700, hit 3,581 Wednesday night, smashing the season's previously reported national high team series.

The Stroh Beers of Detroit set the previous high with 3,482.

Members of the Caldwell team, of the Root Masters League, and their scores were: Murray Lindsay, 759; Ken Kuhfuss, 740; Jim Splitgerber, 720; Lee Joosee, 720, and Orv Elbe, 642.

In the 15 games rolled the team had 120 strikes.

Carl Wising, bowling in the same league, recently had an 876 series, second highest American Bowling Congress sanctioned league score ever rolled.

During the meeting, Malavasi said they pointed out grievances which prompted the boycott of the dinner-dance.

Malavasi refused to say what they were but he said he promised he would attempt to eliminate any inequities that might exist among the players, both individually and collectively.

Running back Abner Haynes said the players were not mad at any Denver fans or organizations.

"We feel," he said, "that if we can get these things resolved it will make the Broncos a better team and get a winning ball club for a city that deserves it."

Charlie Mitchell, who alternates with Haynes at running back, said, "Nothing will be taken on the field. We're paid to play and do a job and we will play as hard as ever."

Dishpan Pontoon Bridge! Supported by Floats

BY CAPPY DICK
Those little paper cups that are used to hold small candles and nuts at the dinner table can be used to construct a play-time pontoon bridge to float in a dishpan or the bathtub.

Use Nut Cups

ordinary cardboard. To prevent the cardboard from warping as the shellac dries, place the edges under weights. Apply the shellac or varnish to one side, place the cardboard on a surface that cannot be damaged by any paint that sloughs off, let the shellac dry, then coat the other side.

With strong glue, attach six of the paper nut cups to one side of the cardboard. While the glue is drying, prepare two cardboard sides for the bridge as shown in Figure 2, drawing the rails with pencil or crayon. Leave two tabs on each rail, one to be glued on top of the bridge floor, the other underneath.

Lightweight objects may be placed on the bridge, but do not submerge it as it may come apart sooner than if otherwise would.

More Than 200 Lost As Greek Ship Sinks

Violent Aegean Sea Storm Hinders Rescue Operations; Nearly 50 Survivors Found

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A Greek passenger ship sank today in a raging storm in the Aegean Sea and more than 200 persons are believed to have drowned.

Of the 281 persons aboard, only 47 had been snatched from the stormy seas several hours after the ship went down. The 8,900-ton Heraklion sank half way between the island of Crete and the Greek mainland, in its regular 10-hour crossing from Crete to Piraeus, the port of Athens.

The first survivors sighted were floating in the sea 19 miles northeast of the island of Milos, where the Venus de Milo statue was discovered in 1820.

Shipping officials said the Heraklion carried 206 passengers, including one foreigner, and a crew of 75 commanded by Capt. E. Vernikos.

Series of Disasters

The sinking of the Heraklion was one of a series of postwar disasters to Greek ships. The cruise ship Lakonia burned and sank during a Christmas cruise in the Atlantic two years ago and 128 persons died. Europe's worst postwar maritime disaster was the sinking of the Himera, which went down off Athens in 1947 with a loss of 392 lives.

In the first hours after the disaster, the Merchant Marine Ministry said there appeared to be no hope of survivors. But as ships and planes converged on the disaster site, wreckage and people were seen in the water. Planes dropped lifebelts and rafts.

The Greek government declared a state of emergency to aid the rescue operations.

Reports coming in from the rescue operation said some of the survivors were seriously injured.

Strong winds and rough seas hampered rescue work.

The storm that sank the Heraklion was part of a wave of violent weather that swept across Greece and the islands. Three persons drowned in floods that broke out in northern Greece after torrential rains.

Thousands of acres of farmland were inundated in scattered sections of the country. Traffic and communications were widely disrupted.

Ike Expects to Stay 12 Days in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was scheduled to enter Walter Reed Army Hospital at noon today to prepare for removal of his gall bladder.

"Apparently I have many, many rocks (gallstones) in me," the 76-year-old, five star general quipped Wednesday. "I have asked the doctors to save me a few."

Eisenhower was to come here from his Gettysburg, Pa., home by car or helicopter.

Date of his surgery has not been announced, but Eisenhower expects to be hospitalized for 12 days — leaving him time to get home for Christmas.

Doctors have indicated they'll schedule the operation after Eisenhower has undergone presurgery tests, which may take three or four days.

The original announcement Monday that Eisenhower would have his gall bladder removed did not specify that he had gallstones — but the general confirmed the presence of the stones.

Michigan Governor In New York to Find Any Likely Support

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan's Gov. George Romney makes a series of public appearances and private calls here today to take what political observers considered soundings of his chances for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Romney told newsmen in Charlotte, N.C., Wednesday that he would not make up his mind about running "for at least six months," which gives him that much time to find what support he can count on.

Romney's public appearances here included a news conference, a speech to the National Association of Manufacturers and a dinner given by the United Jewish Appeal.

Ar aide to Romney said it could "not be ruled out" that

National Guard Helps Evacuate Persons From Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Swollen rivers receded from flood-battered homes of California's Central Valley today as authorities kept a wary eye on the cresting Salinas River in a coastal area.

Army helicopters were readied today to airlift medical and food to the small town of Johnsdale, whose residents are completely isolated by washed out roads.

Kern County officials said some 600 residents were stranded in a logging camp about 40 miles north of the upland town of Kernville. National Guardsmen helped evacuate 200 persons from Porterville Wednesday.

Officials counted one person dead and another missing in the floods, which chased some 700 persons from their homes.

In the Central Valley, property damage is expected to go into the millions. Scores of bridges in Tulare and Kern Counties were washed away or badly damaged.

Satellite Drifts Towards Orbit

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that in about 12 days control jets would jockey the satellite into the desired location.

While it hovers over one point on earth, ATS, for Applications Technology Satellite, will test new space communications and weather forecasting techniques.

Iraq Threatens to Intervene in Already-Tense Middle East

'Battle Against Israel' Seen By Arab Military Command

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq heightened the tension in the Middle East another notch today with reports that it was preparing to send troops into Syria to face the Israeli army.

Baghdad radio said an Iraqi military delegation would visit Syria to confer on positions where the Iraqi troops could be stationed along the Syrian-Israeli frontier.

Earlier, Iraq's chief of staff said Iraqi forces had been moved to the border of Iraq and Syria, awaiting orders from the Arab unified command to join "the battle against Israel."

Baghdad has made several similar gestures in past years but there have never been confirmed reports of Iraqi troops actually entering Syria.

Reports from Cairo said the chief of the Arab unified command, Lt. Gen. Aly Amer of the United Arab Republic, told a

U.S. Begins Campaign Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers pounded a Viet Cong jungle base 25 miles northwest of Saigon today, opening a new campaign to clear the enemy from around South Viet Nam's capital.

The clearance campaign was launched in the wake of the bold suicide attack last weekend on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base. The B52 target was believed to be the base from which the Viet Cong mount terror and infiltration attacks on the capital.

Small Skirmishes

In the ground war, only small patrol skirmishes again were reported, a situation that has prevailed for more than a week. The continuing lull was reflected in a decrease in the casualties last week for all forces in Viet Nam.

The U. S. command said 44 Americans were killed, 521 were wounded and 18 were missing or captured. The week before there were 143 killed, 709 wounded and two missing or captured.

Steady rains caused minor flooding and closed low-lying highways.

The greatest danger appeared to be in Meadville, where the water passed the 11-foot mark at midnight and crept toward flood level of 13 feet.

There was no immediate danger to Pittsburgh, about 100 miles downstream from Meadville, the forecast said.

In the central part of the nation, a small tornado hit downtown Rolla, Mo., police said, damaging four or five buildings, and toppling power lines. No injuries were reported. Police said damage was expected to be moderate.

Strong winds, hail and rain swept Columbia and Springfield, Mo., and other parts of Missouri and Kansas.

Wet and cloudy weather covered the major part of the nation, with heavy rain, strong winds and hail in many sections of the central part of the country and rain and snow in some northern sections and in the West.

Fairly mild weather continued over much of the area east of the Mississippi, and it was a little cooler in the southern Plains.

with the Americans took the mayor — enraged and shouting — to a police station. He was released after high U. S. Embassy officials and the American provost marshal intervened.

Previous Incident

U. S. officials disclosed the mayor had been involved in at least one previous incident recently when he stopped a military convoy moving through Saigon. Other sources said that on one occasion during the last week the mayor halted traffic on a main street late at night and on another occasion he fired shots in the air on another busy street.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge called on Vietnamese officials today and expressed regrets over the incident, but not an apology.

Cua made no public comment.

U. S. Pilot Praised for Guiding Burning Plane From Village

VOLKARTSHAIN, Germany (AP) — Residents of this Hessian village were full of praise today for an American Army pilot who guided his burning observation plane away from their homes.

German police said the pilot ejected himself only seconds before the plane exploded in the air Wednesday and the wreckage smashed into a wooded section beyond the village.

The Army identified the pilot as Capt. William T. Ebert of Glendale, Calif., and said he stayed with the plane, after his observer ejected, to assure that it did not strike the populated area.

Ebert and the observer, Spec. 4 Kenneth G. Bakos of Flint, Mich., escaped with minor injuries, the Army said.

A German police official in nearby Lauterbach said the 200 inhabitants of Volkartshain were grateful to Ebert and expressed hope that he be rewarded for his bravery.

The twin-engine plane was assigned to the 122nd Aviation Company at Hanau, 25 miles southwest of here. The crash occurred 15 minutes after it took off on a routine mission,

Opposition to Powell Might Be Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin says he will drop his opposition to seating Rep. Adam Clayton Powell in the new Congress if the Harlem Democrat "can return to his home state of New York without going to jail."

Van Deerlin's statement came after Powell disclosed through an aide that he intends to begin immediate payments of $60 a week to a Harlem widow who holds a $164,000 libel judgment against him.

Powell's chief aide, C. Sumner Stone, also said that after the first of the year Powell would make a statement "concerning a personal major financial effort toward the resolution of the existing judgment."

Powell was ordered to make the $60 a week payments last Friday by New York State Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Brut. Powell has claimed that his $30,000 a year congressional salary is his only income, making payment of the $164,000 judgment impossible.

At the rate of $60 a week it would take Powell, who is now 58, about 53 years to pay the judgment in full. The widow, Esther James, would be 121 when the last payment was made.

Hit Supply Base

The bombers staged a second raid in South Viet Nam today, hitting a Communist supply base 25 miles west of Chu Lai, in the northern part of the country near the South China Sea Coast.

A U.S. spokesman said two American F5 jet fighter-bombers crashed Wednesday near Saigon and both pilots were killed. One crash was blamed on "control problems." Cause of the other was not known.

Aboard the destroyer Manley off Viet Nam, a five-inch shell exploded in a gun turret Wednesday and three crewmen were injured in the fire that followed the blast. Sen. Henry M.

California Official Sees Even Chance for Getting Atom Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Finch, California's lieutenant governor-elect, estimated Wednesday his state has an even chance of landing the government's proposed $375 million atom smasher.

He called on Atomic Energy Commission officials Wednesday to reaffirm California's commitments in reference to a site near Sacramento.

Finch said his appraisal of the prospects did not come from AEC officials but from congressional and other sources.

He told newsmen the best guess is that the site selection, expected to be announced later this month, has been narrowed to the Sacramento Lake location and a site near Chicago.

Jackson, D-Wash., was aboard to observe the naval bombardment but was not injured. Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined, the Navy said.

Sheppard Says He Planned To Kill Himself if Convicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard, acquitted last month in the 1954 bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, indicated Wednesday night he would have shot himself in the courtroom or on the street if he had been convicted and had to return to jail.

Sheppard, appearing on the National Broadcasting Company's Johnny Carson "Tonight" show, also implied that he carried a pistol into the courtroom with him.

Carson asked him: "What would you have done if this trial had found you guilty. In other words, they would not have acquitted you, which they did."

Sheppard replied: "You are the first one who has come straight from the shoulder and asked me. I would have pulled that pistol from my insides and we would have had another court right on the street. Or in the courtroom. Because I wasn't going back (to prison)."

Carson then said: "You would have rather committed suicide."

"I had it ready," Sheppard replied. "I wasn't going back."

$1,500 Taken From Safe at Sparta High

SPARTA (AP) — Burglars cracked open a safe at Sparta High School during the night and escaped with $1,500, police said.

A janitor discovered the break early today.

Principal James DeGracie said the money—from school lunch collections—was to have been deposited in a bank this morning.

Stuffy Congress Might Need Good Actors

Dirksen Only Fresh
Breeze in Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe the whole thing's wrong. Maybe Congress is too stuffy, too stiff, too cramped, too much in a rut and out of date. Maybe it needs to move outdoors, on a mountain or near one, in a field, in the woods, near a stream, or under a tent.

Perhaps a little music, or singing, or a few horsemen dashing up the grassy aisle at the last minute to break a tie vote would liven things up a bit, just to break the sameness and get the public interested.

In recent years there have been only three good actors in the Senate: Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Texas Democrat; George Murphy of California; and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Johnson moved on to the White House. Murphy has hardly performed in his old professional way. Only Dirksen has never stopped acting.

Gallant Men
He has just come out with a hit album of dramatic readings, "The Gallant Men," recorded in his voice which is one of the most fascinating in America since it starts out sounding like, "Oh, boy!" and suddenly sounds like, "Oh, Lord."

It's beginning to sink in on politicians that they've lost their magic.

All year people by the hundreds of thousands troop into the Capitol to watch the House and Senate, where it's all free, and probably not one in a thousand sits through one whole day to watch and listen.

But, for that matter, it's a rare senator or representative who sits in his chamber one whole day to listen to his colleagues, either.

Yet, around the country people pay out money by the bushels to sit for hours to see a show or hear a concert. And everywhere in America millions from supper to midnight sit entranced before television.

Gregory Peck

No wonder in California the Republicans picked Ronald Reagan to be their gubernatorial candidate or that the people elected him. And no wonder that now the defeated Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown, is suggesting actor Gregory Peck would be a good bet to run for the Senate.

Chuck Connors, one-time ballplayer and television Western star, and John Wayne, the strong silent type of movies and television, have been mentioned as fine political candidates.

A few musicians like Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, for instance, would live up Senate sessions. When the Southerners put on a filibuster to block a civil rights bill they usually play to pretty thin galleries.

If Armstrong were a senator, and pulled out his trumpet to put on an anti-filibuster filibuster, he'd pack the place, wherever it was. And if Marian Anderson could get elected to the Senate and, instead of making a speech, gave a weekly performance with her magnificent contralto, the Senate could help reduce the national debt by selling tickets.

Sure Sell-Out

She'd be a sell-out every time. She'd never have to make a speech, just sing what she wanted to say.

There'd be a real revolution in the Senate's way of doing things if New York sent Edward (Duke) Ellington to the Senate since he could provide both religious and jazz music for his colleagues.

There might be a hitch here, of course. He'd have to get unanimous consent before his

Viet Cong Have Better Reading Than Infantrymen

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Ivy Leaf is a weekly newspaper published by the U.S. 4th Infantry Division and being only a month old it is having circulation troubles.

The Viet Cong are getting copies before the infantrymen.

Troops of the division's 2nd Battalion, 22nd Infantry, were searching a guerrilla tunnel recently southeast of Saigon and found a copy of the paper that had been printed in Saigon only two days earlier.

There was a brief break in the search while the GIs read an issue their company had not yet received.

Gina Lollobrigida Is Hospitalized

NEW YORK (AP) — Fiery Italian film beauty Gina Lollobrigida is in New York's Beth Israel Hospital today suffering from a still-undiagnosed ailment.

She was rushed from a party given by composer Richard Adler in his Central Park West apartment early Wednesday after suddenly becoming ill.

"We had finished dinner and were sitting and talking when I got a terrible pain," she said later from her hospital bed. "I thought I was going to die. It was terrible, terrible."

She had come to New York to attend a film opening for the benefit of victims of the Florence, Italy, flood.

orchestra in the gallery, or on the benches in the back of the tent, could play, but once it did there'd be dancing in the aisles.

Neither House nor Senate has any sense of humor. There's not a comedian in either place. This could be remedied if there were a Sen. Jack Benny or a Rep. Milton Berle.

And there would be 100 per cent roll calls in the House every time for sure if the speaker was the unpredictable Phyllis Diller. And who could break up bum arguments better in House or Senate, even without a gun, than James Arness, who plays Matt Dillon in Gunsmoke every

Navy Cross Won in Viet Nam

Reprimanded Hero Faces Forced Retirement

GROSSE ILE, Mich. (AP) — The hero of the Battle of Ashau in Viet Nam faces mandatory retirement. He also has drawn a reprimand for telling newsmen about the battle in which he won the Navy Cross.

Lt. Col. Charles A. House, 45, a 25-year veteran of the Marine Corps, said the retirement will be mandatory because he has been passed over twice for promotion to colonel.

He also confirmed reports of the reprimand.

"There is no way of knowing whether the reprimand had anything to do with my being passed over," he said in an interview Wednesday. "This is a very competitive promotion. There are a lot of lieutenant colonels but not many colonels."

Reprimand Classifies

House, a native of Burlington, Iowa, refused to say anything more about the reprimand because it is "classified."

"I've done well and I'm not bitter," he said. "But I just can't talk about all this beyond that."

"And," he added, "I could lose my pension."

Last March, when his helicopter was shot down, House took command of about 70 American Special Forces and Vietnamese troops under Viet Cong attack at Ashau.

For five days, House led the troops on a retreat into the jungles, eventually finding a clearing where rescue helicopters could drop in.

Vietnamese Panicked

As the helicopters arrived, the Vietnamese panicked, overloading one helicopter and hanging on the outside of it. Wounded men were left behind.

House tried to restore order, but was ignored, and finally he ordered his men to shoot. Seven Vietnamese were killed and others wounded before the rescue operation could proceed.

The Marine Corps said House did what had to be done. The Vietnamese government agreed, awarding him the Cross of Gallantry.

Causes Sought For Chicago 'E' Derailment

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Transit Authority officials continued today to look into the causes of the derailment and subsequent plunge to the ground Wednesday of two elevated railway cars.

One person was killed and 25 were injured. Four of the injured remained in hospitals. The dead man was William McCullough, 49.

George De Ment, chairman of the CTA, said some kind of "foreign material" on the track may have derailed the last two cars after six 43,000-pound steel cars passed the obstruction.

Other officials theorized the two cars may have been derailed earlier and that contact with the intersection of a switch may have caused the cars to drop 25 feet over the side of the elevated structure.

'Grow With City'

Brillion Chamber Outlines 1967 Business Betterment

BRILLION — The Brillion Chamber of Commerce 1967 objectives, program of work and committee projects were outlined by Norbert O'Connor, new chamber president, at a dinner meeting Tuesday night at Vogel's Hotel.

O'Connor praised the work done by retiring president, Don Wordell. He cited the city's growth in population, industrial expansions and home building and challenged the 61-member group to "grow with the demands of the city."

The advantages of living in a small community, the importance of publicity and the ways the major industries here enhance the community were explained by O'Connor.

NFO Applauds Staley's Plea For Milk Withholding Action

Formal Approval Expected Today At Close of National Convention

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The National Farmers Organization ends its convention today after taking formal action on a proposal for a milk withholding force an increase in prices paid to farmers.

Some 8,000 delegates cheered Wednesday when NFO president Oren Lee Staley declared in a keynote address, "At this point I am assuming that it will be necessary to use a holding action, based on previous experience with processors, in order to gain bargaining power."

Delegates' response indicated that the convention would approve his request, and Staley said he saw little likelihood of a "hold" not being called if authorized.

Withholding Works

Staley, of Rea, Mo., said that because of NFO's beef withholding action of two years ago, organization members are now selling meat to eight of the 15 largest national packing firms. "Fair prices are not to be gotten for the dairy farmers unless they do something for themselves," Staley said, urging dairy meetings "in every county" to obtain support for what he called a total bargaining effort.

The NFO is demanding a price of $6.05 per hundredweight for milk to be used in bottling—about a dollar per hundred above current prices.

Staley, president of NFO since its formation 12 years ago, told delegates, "There must be an atmosphere of calmness in the actual hold. Many will antagonize us. You have to be the statesmen in American agriculture and have to conduct yourselves that way."

Delegates cheered again Wednesday night when Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., told them they should go on record as opposing farm support payments by the federal government and when Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said, "The farmer just hasn't been subsidized. The American consumer has been subsidized by the American farmer."

Both said the NFO had the right formula for raising farm prices—organization for collective bargaining with processors.

"If you farmers are going to improve your income, you must do it the way every other successful group in America has done it—by bargaining together and selling it together," Proxmire said.

"Collective bargaining is the American way," O'Konski said. "It's as American as apple pie."

Justice Court Collects $4,595 In Waupaca

68 of 201 Cases Are for Game Law Violations

WAUPACA — Municipal Justice George Whalen processed 201 cases and collected $4,595 in fines, forfeitures and fees during November.

The Conservation Department brought 68 cases before Justice Whalen which produced $1,105 in fines and fees. All but three conservation violators paid fines. One person served a jail sentence, one case was dismissed and one is still pending.

The County Traffic Patrol had 39 cases from which $1,115 was collected in fines and fees. Eight defendants were sentenced to jail, one was bound over to County Court and one was dismissed.

Other cases brought before the Municipal Justice included 27 from the State Patrol, 30 from the sheriff's office, 24 from the City of Waupaca, 7 from Weyauwega, 4 from Manawa and 2 from the Village of Iola.

Justice fees earned by the court totaled $1,018 for the month.

W. R. Kellett Urges Annual Sessions of State Legislature

Advices Against Yearly Budgets During Organization Meeting

MADISON — William Kellett, chairman of the State Committee on Improved Expenditure Management, recommended strongly Wednesday that the legislature adopt annual sessions, but not go into annual budgets.

"We would hope that this legislation would not provide for annual budgets, but merely afford an opportunity in the second session to review revenue and expenditure developments of the first year of the biennium." The state now budgets for two year periods at one time.

"We feel," Kellett said, "that it would be an unwarranted doubling of budget work to go into annual budgets at this time. We do not feel that this is necessary and would strongly urge against it."

Surprise

His proposal for annual session but not annual budgets, caught some members of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization by surprise.

McKay, assistant GOP majority leader, said that he did not feel that annual sessions were warranted if there was no budgetary review in both sessions.

Sen. Robert Knowles, Senate president pro tem, agreed with McKay that a constitutional change requiring annual sessions might inhibit rather than facilitate functioning of the legislature.

In the face of coolness to a constitutional amendment, Kellett said, "If you can effect the equivalent of annual sessions, go ahead and do it informally." His basic position was that the state needs more orderly programming of its operations if it is to be efficient.

After the committee meeting, Harold Froehlich, new speaker of the House, said that he felt the present calendar is "just ridiculous." He said he saw no reason for extra sessions like the two short, six week sessions in the last legislature.

Seeks Order

He said he did not know what the answer was but that the majority would be considering a more orderly calendar.

Kellett also raised the touchy subject of additional non-salary compensation for legislators. He urged that a bill be drawn and introduced to provide the remainder of the compensation package recommended by his committee in the last session.

The legislature passed a new $8,400 pay level for representatives, but did not act on other compensation recommendations, such as increasing per diem pay from $15 to $20 while legislators are in Madison, increased mileage rates, extra compensation for leadership positions, and increased non-session compensation for representation.

'It's Cold,' Says Filipino Teacher

MANAWA — "It's cold in Wisconsin," was the answer Marieta Rodillon gave when she arrived here from the Philippines to assume her physical education duties at the high school.

Her first impression of the States was that she was surely going to freeze. She spent Saturday shopping for winter clothes, having brought only a light coat. She said she had been told it was cold in Wisconsin but she just could not imagine how cold.

George Lehto, high school guidance counselor, drove to Chicago in Sunday's snow to pick up Miss Rodillon. This was the first snow she had ever seen. "It is nice to see, but not nice to feel. It is very cold," she remarked. "In the Philippines we have two kinds of weather — wet and dry," she said. "We wear no coats there. It makes me feel

Her hobbies include fishing, swimming and boating, all summer activities.

Philippine schools are patterned after United States schools, she said.

When asked how the physical education programs compared, she said the Filipino program was much less strenuous. Physical education consists mostly of folk dances and light gymnastics.

Milk Diet

She said she has been on a milk diet for two days. Although she likes meats and vegetables she does not care for them without steamed rice. She said in the Philippines they eat rice three times a day along with other foods.

"The people are very hospitable here," she said, "but it is so very cold." Miss Rodillon is living with Mrs. Charles Hoffmann, also a member of the high school faculty.

Miss Rodillon is fifth in a family of nine children, she has three brothers and five sisters. Among the nine are two lawyers, one engineer, two psychologists, and four teachers.

With the coming of the holiday season, the question of how is Christmas observed in the Philippines was asked. Her answer: it is observed in much the same manner as in the United States, but there is no snow!

Committee Is Named For Study

CLINTONVILLE — A city council committee was appointed Tuesday night by Mayor Frank Sinkewicz to study low rent housing units for the elderly.

Action came after the city council heard George H. Hibner, housing consultant for the Wisconsin State Commission on Aging.

Named to the committee were Aids. Leon Steenbock, chairman, Don Sawall, Arthur Kapingst and Evan Hedtke. The committee will report its findings at a future council meeting.

Low Rent Bracket

Hibner said many cities are building housing units in the lower rent brackets for the senior citizens who are on the lower, fixed income bracket. The problems of our spiraling cost of living and the fixed retirement income of our elderly are apparent to all of us, he said. Determining rental needs, questions of eligibility and all other operating details are a matter for local decision, he explained.

The Commission on Aging working with the local group assists in a determination on the rent level desired. The rent level normally determines the funding arrangement, Hibner said. Assuming that a rental level of $35 to $45 is desired, the organization of a local housing authority is the next step.

An established housing authority may receive legal, technical, financial and market analysis assistance in developing a program. Funding for development is available from various sources depending upon the rental level, he said.

Financing Agency

Most developments have been financed by the Public Housing Administration, Hibner said.

In Clintonville, there were 714 residents older than 65, the 1960 census shows. The figure was considered very conservative in view of 1966 projections.

Mayor Sinkewicz said rental units of this classification would not only benefit the elderly but the city in general, as it would open up rentals for the many people now commuting to work in Clintonville.

Royalton School Is New Mukwa Hall

Six-Margin Vote Finally Swings $3,000 Deal With New London

NEW LONDON — Purchase of the Northport School building for a town hall was approved Tuesday by a 96-92 vote at a special Town of Mukwa meeting at Washington Junior High School. The decision was made after four months of deliberation, and much controversy.

Previous town board attempts to purchase the building were blocked. Early this year the board made an offer of $3,000 for the building when the New London Board of Education sought bids.

Raise Question

Later, the town board asked to meet with the Board of Education because a question arose about the validity of the bid. A verbal commitment was given by the town at that time, and a letter and $3,000 for the building was sent to the school district.

When it was pointed out that purchase of a building as a town meeting site had to be approved by the town electorate at an election by referendum vote, or at a town meeting, the $3,000 was returned to the town at its request.

Close Vote

The controversy involved in purchasing the building to replace the small, outdated town hall was clearly indicated in the closeness of the voting.

Robert Cupp, town county board member, reported on estimates for constructing a new cement block building which would meet state specifications at about $6,483.

The Northport school was closed at the end of the 1965-66 school year because of the opening of the new senior high school.

Seymour High School's basketball teams plays host to one of the Northeastern Wisconsin Conference's best — Pulaski — Friday night.

Seymour, which has lost its first two league starts, faces Pulaski, which shares the NEW lead, with a 2-0 mark. Pulaski also owns a non-conference overtime victory over Menasha St. Mary.

Bonduel, which is also seeking its first league victory of the campaign, travels to Oconto Falls to meet a team, which has played .500 ball in the NEW to date.

Seymour has averaged 54.5 points while giving up a rate of 77.5 in conference play. Pulaski's comparative figures are 73.5 and 41.

Bonduel has scored at a 46-point NEW pace, while surrendering 70. Oconto Falls has tallied an average of 66.5 while allowing 60.5.

tatives who must travel large districts.

The committee dropped a hot potato when Robert Huber, Assembly Democratic minority leader, said he wanted to take it up in party caucus before it is drafted into a bill.

Kellett Plan

Froehlich, however, interjected that this is a proposal "dear to his heart" and urged that each element of the pay package be brought into the Legislature separately.

The one proposal that drew almost unanimous support was Kellett's idea of a "bifurcated session." Under this arrangement the legislature would convene early in February, organize itself, and then adjourn for from two to six weeks while the joint finance committee worked on the biennial budget.

The legislators on the committee felt this would give the joint finance committee a better chance to scrutinize the budget without having to deal with other legislative matters.

The committee is now screening applicants for a new "legis-

Clintonville Employees Given Additional Insurance Benefits

Hospital Room Coverage Raised $3, Major Medical to $10,000

CLINTONVILLE — A recommendation of the personnel committee to increase the benefits under the insurance plan for city employees was adopted by the council Tuesday night.

Ald. Ed Mitchell, airport commission chairman, reported a lease had been drawn up with the Public Works Equipment Co., granting the city use of the portion of the terminal building it occupies as long as the city has scheduled airline service or until FWD Corp., owner of the building, sells the facility. The agreement would terminate in 30 days, with the city paying Public Works Equipment Co. the sum of $100 a month for six months and then $10 a month for the next six months for heating and electricity furnished if either of the conditions arises. The lease was approved.

Owner Chain

The building was constructed by North Central Airlines, who sold it to Public Works Equipment, who then sold it to FWD Corp., and now Public Works Equipment leases it.

Several aldermen raised the question of having the operations for the scheduled airline service, now provided by Mid-States Commuter Service referred to the ordinance committee for study with a recommendation being made to council.

Ald. Hedtke, planning commission chairman, reported on a recent meeting at Green Bay of the Wisconsin Association of Planners.

A letter from the Public Service Commission advising it had received a petition signed by about 50 persons relative to the alternation of the water level of the Pigeon River. Lloyd Eggleston, city clerk, advised that he had replied to the commission stating that at the October council meeting, the river improvement committee was given permission to remove the top board from the gates at the dam for a trial basis relative to the water level.

Ordinances Adopted

An ordinance were adopted, following a second reading which called for installation of two 12-minute parking meters on N. Main Street north of the post office where there are two 10-minute parking signs now and also on the west side of N. Main Street so there will be four 12-minute meters on N. Main Street, near the post office and Hotel Marson.

The second reading of an ordinance covering annexation of the Mantin property and the swimming pool to the city of Clintonville was deferred until next meeting.

Lot Unused

Parking on 14th and Wilson streets as well as others in the vicinity of the FWD Corp. was discussed and Mayor Sinkewicz said it appeared that the new parking lot on city property moved to the city-owned facility, known as the McKenna hangar, where the fixed base operator is located.

Ald. Mitchell said action had to be taken otherwise the heat and light would be shut off.

Basil Arvey, airport manager, said in the application to the state for aid in purchasing homing equipment to guide planes, it was the assumption that this would be at the present terminal and this would be coming through very soon.

October Report

Ald. Mitchell said the report from Roy Schwery, president of Mid-States, showed for October there was a total of 136 passengers with three cancellations due to weather. There were actually 119 passengers and freight totaling 3,871 pounds which provided revenue equivalent to 17 passengers.

Mayor Sinkewicz said FWD is the largest user of the airline service and that the facilities at the present location lend themselves to the boardings. This is the location North Central formerly operated from at the airport.

Zoning Discussion

The present zoning ordinance was discussed in reference to procedures and up-dating, in conformance with the Wisconsin Statutes. Exclusion of building homes in a business district was adjacent to the Army was not being used and felt it was due to not being properly marked and lighted.

The ordinance committee was asked to bring in an amendment to the parking ordinance proposing 90 minute parking on 14th Street from McKinley to Lincoln, Lincoln to Garfield, and Garfield to Wilson; also Garfield to Wilson on Anne Street. It was also suggested that the amendment include no parking on the west side of McKinley from 12th to 14th Street with no restrictions on the east side of the street.

A class B license was granted to Phillip Bouyan and operator licenses were granted to John Zellmer and John Hoffman, who live in the city, and Victor Sell, route 3.

Permission was granted the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids for gasoline for 1967.

Council approved extending the employment of Herman Zabel to Nov. 30, 1967, which conforms with the Wisconsin Retirement rules for city employees over 65 years of age.

Pythians Fete Morgan Children

Happiness isn't always spelled "P-a-r-t-y" but it was Monday afternoon at Morgan School when the Pythian Sisters held their annual Christmas party for the children. Such treats as ice cream, homemade cookies and apples provided only part of the treat. The rest of it came from music furnished by Mrs. Melvin Ruth and her accordian and a pair of new mittens, provided by Zwicker Knitting Mills and presented to each child by Charles Hervey.

The party is given each year on St. Nicholas Day. It is only one of the ways the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters have supported Morgan School. Since 1949 the groups have donated a filmstrip and slide projector, therapeutic weights, a tape recorder, five electric typewriters, six wheelchairs, a mat platform, an adding machine, a standing stabilizer, a therapy cabinet, a posture mirror, a radio and other office and orthopedic equipment.

The party continues to be the highlight of the Sisters' efforts for the children, however, for it is then that laughter can be heard, smiles appreciated and "thank you" whispered.

The Pythian Sisters visited the Outagamie County Golden Age Home and Hospital and Appleton City Home Dec. 1, serving refreshments and leading Christmas singing. The group will also distribute baskets to the needy during the season.

Holiday Stock Suggestion

Wages Call Issues Suitable Only for Christmas Cards

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange has just completed mailing to its members some information on how to promote shares of stock as Christmas gifts, especially to youngsters.

The exchange described such gifts as "both different and practical," as "more personal than cash," as "combining sentiment with good sense," and as adding "excitement and involvement to life."

Immediately, some wags contended that at today's depressed stock prices certain shares might substitute for the Christmas card but hardly for the gift itself.

Good Will
The exchange, thinking otherwise, explained its conviction in a letter to executives of brokerage houses. Such gifts, it said, "create good will and help educate a whole new generation of investors."

As proof of the potential market, exchange officials noted that studies show "a promising area for growth in our business over the years ahead lies among youngsters under 21."

As proof of the existing market it noted that: "An estimated 1,300,000 minors now own stock—a figure which has tripled in the past three years and increased more than 500 per cent in the past decade."

Easier Present

This increase in stock ownership by youngsters is one of the most fundamental changes in stock ownership of recent years. It is no accident. Once it is difficult to give stock. Legislation now has made it routine.

As the exchange notes, and many people have discovered, there are distinct advantages to the recipient: growth, dividends and the educational value of having a personal key to the American economic system.

There are disadvantages: the possibilities that dividends won't be paid or that the value of the shares will decline. With caution and wisdom, however, there is a good chance of picking growth stocks that might some day help finance a college education.

For the donor there are tax advantages. Each year a couple can give gifts totaling $6,000 and still be exempt from federal gift taxes.

In addition, by shifting the money from parental ownership to the child's account the donor shifts income from a higher to a lower tax bracket—perhaps even out of reach of taxes.

Laws Liberal

Few people are going to give $6,000 away at Christmas, even to their children. But the example shows how liberal the laws are.

Parents who give stock to children still may claim the $600 federal income tax exemption for each child regardless of the child's income from the gift.

The usual provision exists, however, that the parent must pay at least one-half the child's support and that he is under 19 or a full-time student.

The donor, or a custodian he appoints, may buy, sell, collect dividends and reinvest for the minor's account. No Indian giving though—the stock may not be reclaimed by the donor.

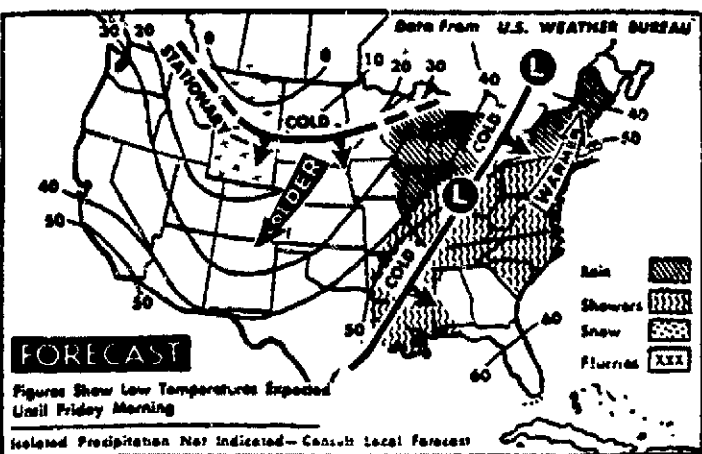

A gift of stock can be purchased or transferred in the usual manner, simply by walking into a brokerage office and asking for the information. Most brokers have or can quickly obtain the forms needed.

Don't worry if the purchase is a small one. For a broker, obtaining a brand new account with potential for growth is a Christmas gift in itself.

Contract Buying Valley Purchasers Meeting Subject

Contract buying concepts will be presented in a panel discussion at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Fox Valley Purchasing Agents association at the Conway Motor Hotel. The recently organized group includes purchasing men in an area from Green Bay south to and including Fond du Lac and Ripon.

J. D. Hofman, general purchasing agent, and Russell Menning, senior buyer, Kimberly-Clark Corp., will be speakers. Hofman has been purchasing agent at Kimberly-Clark since 1964 and recently began initiating contract buying at his company. Menning, senior buyer in charge of maintenance, repair and operating purchases since 1962, has been instrumental in the initial phases of Kimberly-Clark's contract buying operation. Benefits to the consumer through proper utilization of this type of purchasing will also be discussed by the two speakers.

There'll be Snow Tonight in the northern Rockies. Rain, showers or thundershowers are forecast for the Great Lakes, north and central Atlantic Coasts, the Carolinas, parts of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, the Tennessee Valley and the eastern Gulf Coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Breeze in Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe the whole thing's wrong. Maybe Congress is too stuffy, too stiff, too cramped, too much in a rut and out of date. Maybe it needs to move outdoors, on a mountain or near one, in a field, in the woods, near a stream, or under a tent.

Perhaps a little music, or singing, or a few horsemen dashing up the grassy aisle at the last minute to break a tie vote would liven things up a bit, just to break the sameness and get the public interested.

In recent years there have been only three good actors in the Senate: Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Texas Democrat; George Murphy of California; and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Johnson moved on to the White House. Murphy has hardly performed in his old professional way. Only Dirksen has never stopped acting.

Gallant Men

He has just come out with a hit album of dramatic readings, "The Gallant Men," recorded in his voice which is one of the most fascinating in America since it starts out sounding like, "Oh, boy!" and suddenly sounds like, "Oh, Lord."

It's beginning to sink in on politicians that they've lost their magic.

All year people by the hundreds of thousands troop into the Capitol to watch the House and Senate, where it's all free, and probably not one in a thousand sits through one whole day to watch and listen.

But, for that matter, it's a rare senator or representative who sits in his chamber one whole day to listen to his colleagues, either.

Yet, around the country people pay out money by the bushels to sit for hours to see a show or hear a concert. And everywhere in America millions from supper to midnight sit entranced before television.

Gregory Peck

No wonder in California the Republicans picked Ronald Reagan to be their gubernatorial candidate or that the people elected him. And no wonder that the defeated Democratic governor, Edmund G. Brown, is suggesting actor Gregory Peck would be a good bet to run for the Senate.

Chuck Connors, one-time ballplayer and television Western star, and John Wayne, the strong silent type of movies and television, have been mentioned as fine political candidates.

A few musicians like Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, for instance, would live up Senate sessions. When the Southerners put on a filibuster to block a civil rights bill they usually play to pretty thin galleries.

If Armstrong were a senator, and pulled out his trumpet to put on an anti-filibuster filibuster, he'd pack the place, wherever it was. And if Marian Anderson could get elected to the Senate and, instead of making a speech, gave a weekly performance with her magnificent contralto, the Senate could help reduce the national debt by selling tickets.

Sure Sell-Out

She'd be a sell-out every time. She'd never have to make a speech, just sing what she wanted to say.

There'd be a real revolution in the Senate's way of doing things if New York sent Edward (Duke) Ellington to the Senate since he could provide both religious and jazz music for his colleagues.

There might be a hitch here, of course. He'd have to get unanimous consent before his orchestra in the gallery, or on Matt Dillon in Gunsmoke every the benches in the back of the

Viet Cong Have Better Reading Than Infantrymen

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Ivy Leaf is a weekly newspaper published by the U.S. 4th Infantry Division and being only a month old it is having circulation troubles.

The Viet Cong are getting copies before the infantrymen. Troops of the division's 2nd Battalion, 22nd Infantry, were searching a guerrilla tunnel recently southeast of Saigon and found a copy of the paper that had been printed in Saigon only two days earlier.

There was a brief break in the search while the GIs read an issue their company had not yet received.

Gina Lollobrigida Is Hospitalized

NEW YORK (AP) — Fiery Italian film beauty Gina Lollobrigida is in New York's Beth Israel Hospital today suffering from a still-undiagnosed ailment.

She was rushed from a party given by composer Richard Adler in his Central Park West apartment early Wednesday after suddenly becoming ill. "We had finished dinner and were sitting and talking when I got a terrible pain," she said later from her hospital bed. "I thought I was going to die. It was terrible, terrible."

tent, could play, but once it did there'd be dancing in the aisles. Neither House nor Senate has any sense of humor. There's not a comedian in either place. This could be remedied if there were a Sen. Jack Benny or a Rep. Milton Berle.

And there would be 100 per cent roll calls in the House every time for sure if the speaker were the unpredictable Phyllis Diller. And who could break up burn arguments better in House of course. He'd have to get unanimous consent before his orchestra in the gallery, or on Matt Dillon in Gunsmoke every the benches in the back of the

Reprimanded Hero Faces Forced Retirement

GROSSE ILE, Mich. (AP) — The hero of the Battle of Ashau in Viet Nam faces mandatory retirement. He also has drawn a reprimand for telling newsmen about the battle in which he won the Navy Cross.

Lt. Col. Charles A. House, 45, a 25-year veteran of the Marine Corps, said the retirement will be mandatory because he has been passed over twice for promotion to colonel.

He also confirmed reports of the reprimand.

"There is no way of knowing whether the reprimand had anything to do with my being passed over," he said in an interview Wednesday. "This is a very competitive promotion. There are a lot of lieutenant colonels but not many colonels."

Reprimand Classifies
House, a native of Burlington, Iowa, refused to say anything more about the reprimand because it is "classified."

"I've done well and I'm not bitter," he said. "But I just can't talk about all this beyond that."

"And," he added, "I could lose my pension."

Last March, when his helicopter was shot down, House took command of about 70 American Special Forces and Vietnamese troops under Viet Cong attack at Ashau.

For five days, House led the troops on a retreat into the jungles, eventually finding a clearing where rescue helicopters could drop in.

Vietnamese Panicked
As the helicopters arrived, the Vietnamese panicked, overloading one helicopter and hanging on the outside of it. Wounded men were left behind.

House tried to restore order, but was ignored, and finally he ordered his men to shoot. Seven Vietnamese were killed and others wounded before the rescue operation could proceed.

The Marine Corps said House did what had to be done. The Vietnamese government agreed, awarding him the Cross of Gallantry.

But later the Marine Corps said House used poor judgment in telling newsmen of the incident.

subsequent plunge to the ground Wednesday of two elevated railway cars.

One person was killed and 25 were injured. Four of the injured remained in hospitals. The dead man was William McCullough, 49.

George De Ment, chairman of the CTA, said some kind of "foreign material" on the track may have derailed the last two cars after six 43,000-pound steel cars passed the obstruction.

Other officials theorized the two cars may have been derailed earlier and that contact with the intersection of a switch may have caused the cars to drop 25 feet over the side of the elevated structure.

soldiers into the country from Saudi Arabia, Jordan's moderate ally in its feud with the more revolutionary Arab states. The Syrian chief of state, Nureddin Atassi, offered to arm opposition forces inside Jordan to overthrow King Hussein. Jordan itself was reported calm, and schools were scheduled to reopen following riots and demonstrations which swept the western part of the country last month.

New Taxes for Cities

The votes by a Legislative Council local government study committee last week recommending laws to authorize municipalities on their own to tax cars and trucks, to have a local gross income tax, and to have a use tax on hotel and motel bills will win little applause from the taxpayers. But it represents an important milestone in the never-ending Wisconsin study of municipal revenue needs, a public acknowledgment that the property tax is reaching the limits of its use.

The Wisconsin League of Municipalities has been preaching this message for several years and it has bluntly pointed out that, compared with other states, passenger cars in Wisconsin represent an untapped source of municipal revenue. The state's larger cities have been focusing increasing public notice on so-called "tax island" suburbs whose residents use central city facilities but have lower local property tax rates, in part, because of the local share of income taxes going to the place of residence of the taxpayer. The Legislative Council committee's recommendations recognize these problems.

The study committee's proposals, of course, are a long way from enactment, and it is possible that they will be sidetracked by the full Legislative Council when it receives the report Dec. 19. But sooner or later the proposals will have to be examined in detail because there can be no argument with the fact that the local property tax is reaching the limit of its use in the private sector and is becoming a handicap to industrial and business expansion within cities which need such growth the most. In fact, the annual chunk of the selective sales tax reserved for municipal property tax relief when the sales tax was enacted recognized this.

But the state's larger cities also are pleading for a new legislative study of shared taxes on the "tax island" issue. This question should be resolved first, and estimated revenue totals from the proposed new municipal taxes can be a part of this study.

The proposed levy of up to one-half percent on gross incomes, of course, is directed at suburban residents who earn their pay checks in cities. But while such a tax would be a way for cities to tax suburban residents who earn their living in the cities, the levying of the tax against city residents would not improve the ratio of taxes being paid by city and suburban residents. The same would be true for levying an automobile tax as a new source of city revenue if rural and suburban governments do not need the added revenue.

The Legislative Council study committee, in a companion recommendation, pointed a way. It endorsed a study of the idea of state highway aids going to municipalities on the basis of traffic-miles rather than the simple existing rule for aid being based on mileage totals.

The study of how much cities can gain in revenue by a fair reform of tax sharing formulas should have priority, though it well may be that the amount of revenue involved has been exaggerated in the politics of cities versus suburbs. But these totals should be established, in any event, to enable the legislature to act with facts on the eventual unpleasant job of authorizing municipalities to tap new sources of revenue through income, use, or vehicle taxes.

Dumping Into the Lakes

Sen. Gaylord Nelson has announced that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad has "agreed" to halt the dumping of garbage and trash from its vessels crossing Lake Michigan. What might have surprised many of the senator's constituents is that it required the intervention of one of the highest ranking legislators to get such an "agreement," in face of the fact that such dumping obviously has the universal disapproval of the public.

The Wisconsin senator said he had investigated the matter after having received complaints from private citizens who had observed stateroom maids and others dumping overboard large containers of trash, all of which inevitably landed on some lake front beach, albeit possibly hundreds of miles away and therefore presumably of not great concern to the managers of the line or its ship subsidiary.

If this experience doesn't indicate to the Congress that a tough new law is required, that body is blind indeed to the problem of protecting its natural resources and the rights of all people to the enjoyment of public waters. The manner in which the news of Sen. Nelson's announcement was displayed in the press suggests that many editors recognized the reckless lake littering habit for what it is — a callous, cynical defiance of the public welfare.

Sen. Nelson said he has received numerous recent complaints about the thoughtless — considered in its most charitable light — habits of the ship captains on the lakes. Yet such complaints have been received by public officials for many years. We recall one of our own staff members who expressed his utter despair after what he had observed on a Great Lakes cruise at least a decade ago. We intend to continue to assist our Wisconsin representative in his prodding for new legislation that will provide strict penalties for such willful despoliation of a natural resource, since it has become evident that only the stout arm of a punitive statute can persuade some interests of their public responsibilities.

Where Do They Come From?

We have always rather scoffed at the alleged dangers of the so-called ultra right. Americans do not have a tradition of fascism and it would seem to be completely contrary to their history and concern for individual liberty. Neither has there ever been much of a percentage of Americans really converted to Communism even during the darkest days of economic depression.

But the recent arrests of members of the Minutemen, a militant organization which seems to be dedicated to the idea that the threats of Communist take-over in the United States demand a personal arsenal in every man's closet, are disturbing. Reportedly the group of Eastern Minutemen were on their way to "destroy" what they believed to be a camp for Communists. They were armed with a tremendous variety of deadly weapons including, rather oddly, crossbows.

While those on the ultra right are often loudly concerned about what they consider left wing propaganda as well as pornography, they seem strangely immune to the dangers of their own type of hate literature. A recent list of "rare, used and hard-to-find books" sent out by a West Coast organization called the Sons of Liberty is an example. The vast majority of books listed are anti-Negro, anti-Semitic and dedicated to opposition to race mixing. They include such material as "A Patriotic Biography of Adolf Hitler and the Nazi Party," "Quisling, Prophet Without Honor," and various other tracts which apparently defend and laud the Nazi movement. There are others explaining all about "the early white Aryan Persians" and one author who has discovered that "Christ was not a Jew."

The ultra right may be balanced by the ultra left which would set up as stringent government controls for other purposes as would the neo-Nazis and those who still applaud slavery. But it still surprises us that a nation with examples of liberty, justice and material wealth as well can spawn such vipers.

Furniture Trade Brisk in Appleton

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Dec. 20, 1866.

What becomes of all the furniture?

The amount and activity of the trade in furniture in Appleton makes one ask where it all goes, and what becomes of it after getting there. It is only a little while since we spoke of Deacon Turner's large addition to his warehouses on College Avenue, made necessary by the growth of his trade.

Now we have to mention Messrs. Geiger and Coe so soon after opening their warehouses on the Avenue. They are feeling the same pressure for more room, and find they must put up a considerable addition to their present buildings. This addition will be to the rear of their present buildings and will be two stories high. Both these establishments sell here as well as abroad (outside the city). But Major

Pond ships away everything that his works turns out, and the demand is so great that he might sell twice as much if he had machinery enough to supply such quantity.

New Japanese military maneuvering was increasing the tension between the United States and Japan as the American government in Washington awaited an answer to Secretary of State Hull's terms for peace in the Pacific. A Chinese army spokesman reported that 40 Japanese warships were sighted in Camranh Bay, off the southeast coast of French Indo-China. This included an aircraft carrier with 45 planes aboard, the whole representing a potential springboard for attacks on Singapore, the Dutch East Indies or the Philippines. Gordon Bubolz, Appleton, was to speak on the topic,

Kraft Writes

U.S. Reevaluating Its Thinking On China in Light of New Events

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — Events in China have smashed to bits most of the received wisdom about leadership and politics in Peking. But out of the ruins there is emerging a new China theory.

Kraft

While still under discussion in Washington, the new theory is worth reporting. For it identified the flaws in the old approach and it has a deep significance for foreign policy.

The new theory is new in that it avoids analogies with past events and other countries. It does not rest on such ambiguous and uncertain terms as "moderate," "radical," "left," "right," "revisionist" and dogmatist.

Neither does it take as a model for developments in China the succession struggle that racked the Soviet Union at the time of Stalin's demise.

The central concept in the new China theory is the concept of priorities. According to the theory, what currently sets apart the factions in the Chinese leadership is that they have different sets of priorities for the limited resources available.

For one faction, centered around Chairman Mao and his heir-apparent, Defense Minister Lin Piao, the central priority is to maintain the character of the Chinese revolution as it took shape during the long years of struggle.

'CARRY UP'
As Mao put it in a polemic against the Soviet Union which he is known to have written: "The question is... whether or not there will be people who can carry on the Marxist-Leninist revolutionary cause started by the older generation of proletarian revolutionaries."

With respect to domestic policy, the Maoist priority subordinates the modernization of China to the continuing struggle against the traditionally hierarchical social structure. Thus the army, with all ranks abolished, becomes the model agent for developing Chinese agriculture and industry. Thus the enrollment in higher educational institutions is postponed for six months while the Red Guards are loosed against such centers of authority as the party, the trades unions, the universities and even the local party bosses.

With respect to foreign policy, the Maoist priority also subordinates international possibilities to the continuing revolution inside China. Thus Lin Piao, in his famous speech of September, 1965, on Peoples' War, emphasized not an aggressive forward position against the United States but a defensive position of "self-reliance." Thus Peking has been slow to move toward active intervention in Viet Nam and even slower to allow Soviet assistance. And thus such supposed "moderates" as Prime Minister Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi, to the surprise of the experts, seem to be in the Maoist camp.

On the other side, there is a faction which evidently includes most of the leadership which has recently been downgraded — notably Teng Hsiao-ping, the party secretary; Liu Shao-chi, the former heir-apparent; Peng Chen, the former mayor of Peking, and Lo Jui-ching, the former chief of the army general staff. For this group, apparently the chief priority was headlong development of China as a world power.

The domestic policy seems to have meant the building up — by the usual incentives and perquisites — of a corps of technically trained people able to effect the rapid modernization of the Chinese economy. Thus Peng Chen had close ties with the scientific and intellectually elite in Peking, and he seems to have asserted that China had more important business than Mao's cultural revolution.

In foreign policy, the priority has been building a strong, modern professional arm prepared to take on the United States and ready to take aid at least temporarily from the Soviet Union. Thus Lo Jui-ching, in a speech delivered in May, 1965, pointed out how the Soviet Union had won a glorious victory in World War II and built a modern army, by temporary co-operation with bourgeois countries.

Many signs — but notably the drawing away of Hanoi from Peking and the sudden sharpening of the Soviet attacks on China — indicate that the Maoist faction has the upper hand. But the balance still appears to be tight and for the United States that suggests two points.

First, this country ought to behave in Viet Nam in the cautious way that would not turn things upside down again in Peking. Secondly, this country ought to seize the current moment to move as far as possible toward detente with the Soviet Union.

Teeth in New Water

Pollution Law Just

Beginning to Bite

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Recent proofs of the state government's resolve to prosecute more firmly its orders against the pollution of public waters also provide a useful reminder of the nature of the pollution problem and the dimensions of the prevention and control effort.

Wyngaard

One of the first decisive acts of the new board of directors of the reconstituted Department of Resource Development was to turn over to the office of the attorney general, with a demand for court action, nearly 60 outstanding orders that somehow had been ignored by the parties to whom they were directed.

Among them were a number of small cities and towns, some of them in the low tax valuation districts of upper Wisconsin, where a lack of financing rather than a deliberate defiance of law and the power of the state government is the obvious cause of failure to comply. Here is illustrated one of the meaningful aspects of the pollution problem on the whole. Strict and literal enforcement of the law as written may not be as widely accepted, or as popular, as some of the off-the-cuff editorial commentaries may have led the interested private citizen to assume.

COST AND PAIN

The impression has been created that the "polluters," and it has become something of an epithet in the typical discussion, are the selfish industrial corporations of Wisconsin that have been despoiling an irreplaceable natural resource. No realist will deny that industrial pollution has been an important contribution to the problem as a whole. Yet, it is not always remembered, or admitted, that industrial corporations have generally complied with the letter of the cleanup orders, often at the cost of heavy capital outlays.

Whether such compliances will be as willing, or complete, when the new department launches its future regulations with the benefit of the new water quality standards it will be required to formulate remains to be seen. But a more immediate problem will be the resolution of a more pressing problem of treatment and disposal of municipal sewage and waste, as indicated by the unwillingness or inability of some of the smaller municipalities to install their first treatment plants, and the difficulties feared by others in supplementing their facilities with secondary treatment works.

The legislature and its advisors recognized that doubt, when they set up the vast program of financial subsidies through the extension, in effect, of the state's credit to municipalities. But that program, daring in its conception and quite without precedent under Wisconsin law, remains to be tested in the State Supreme Court. Should it fail to be validated, there will be a statewide crisis in local finance if the state applies the letter of the pollution laws.

OTHER DIFFICULTIES

State officials have repeatedly said that there is not yet a general awareness of the scope of the new water quality protection law. They are quite right.

When there is a general realization of its bold purposes and profound implications, there are likely to be some alarmed responses. The absolute control over septic tank installations, for example, will inevitably bring repercussions when its full meaning is apprehended. The provision for shoreland zoning is breathtaking in its potential consequences.

Freeman Holmer, the new director of the department who has been boning up on the law and its purposes, observed to Gov. Warren Knowles at his budget hearing that the new zoning program represents "a very difficult field." It was a massive understatement.

When that zoning program is in full effect, and the deadline is 1968, it will be recognized for what it is. There will be many indignant voices dissenting from the chorus of offhand endorsement that has been heard during the last few months. The new law in many respects is truly epochal in its purposes. But it won't be easily applied.

Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In the calculus of human existence, it seems to me that life is 30 per cent what is handed to you at birth, 30 per cent what you are, and 30 per cent what you make of yourself. The final, and often determining, 10 per cent is sheer luck.

Harris

Has it occurred to anyone that the real reason for the Biblical myth of Adam — that is, one created man instead of a multiplicity of men created all together — is to stress the common parenthood of everyone on earth, so that no one could point to "superior" lineage if he goes back far enough?

The high rate of what are euphemistically called "nervous breakdowns" in social and diplomatic circles is best attributed not to the frenzied pace so much as to Anne Lindbergh's diagnosis many years ago: "The most exhausting thing in life is being insincere."

Any act can be justified by its proponents; no doubt murderers, if called upon to rationalize their deeds, would call them "retroactive birth control."

One cockeyed concomitant of our affluent society is the large number of divorcees who "can't afford" to remarry lest they lose their alimony payments.

The best advice on cigaret smoking was given by Gandhi, who wasn't talking about cigaret smoking at all: "As long as you derive inner help and comfort from anything, you should keep it. If you were to give it up in a mood of self-sacrifice or out of a sense of duty, you would continue to want it back, and that unsatisfied want would make trouble for you. Only give up a thing when you want some other condition so much that the thing no longer has attraction for you, or when it seems to interfere with that which is more greatly desired."

Everyone is in favor of laws which he cannot imagine himself breaking; the laws we object to are those which penalize misdeeds we feel ourselves capable of.

There is no record in history of a nation building up a large store of arms and not using them; if the arms are available, they will be used, one way or another, under one pretext or another.

It is a shallow definition to say, as Harry Truman did, that "politics is the art of government" — politics is the art of circumventing government on behalf of partisan goals that are cunningly disguised as public needs.

I'd like to "initialize" the extinction of the man who "finalizes" a decision.

Few Grape Vines in Florida, but This One Is Worth Many

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — One of Florida's few really prolific grapevines shades 300 square feet of Charles A. Prester's homestead.

The heavily fruited, arborescent canopy is a single vine of the Lake Emerald strain planted by Prester in 1958.

Florida, a lush ground for most growing things, is inhospitable to almost every kind of grape because of an insect-carrier virus. Lake Emerald, a white grape suitable for wine-making, was developed by state agricultural experimenters searching for a variety that would resist the virus. Prester said his vine has yielded 250 to 260 pounds of grapes in recent years.

Sukarno Still In Indonesia Political Arena

Government Hopes
His Influence Will Eventually Wither

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

JAKARTA, Indonesia — The comfortable assumption that President Sukarno was rendered powerless after the abortive Communist coup d'etat last year is now being re-examined by the anti-Sukarno, anti-Communist military cabal that runs Indonesia under the leadership of General Suharto.

It is not that Sukarno is about to make an overt grab for his old power. The "Bung" is far too shrew for that. But the political winds have subtly changed since March 11, the day Suharto reduced Sukarno to what every one thought was the status of figurehead.

Signs of Sukarno's rehabilitation are proliferating. At a Yugoslav diplomatic reception last week, the "Bung" made a rare public appearance. His unexpected presence transformed a routine affair into an exciting event. His entrance was in the grand manner — head high, eyes bold and challenging, gold-tipped presidential baton an unmistakable token of authority and the man's whole presence oozing self-confidence.

A path wide enough for a king magically opened up and conversation stopped as he strolled with careless ease, nodding this way and that, to the end of the ballroom, where he took the seat of honor and held court in the grand manner for two hours.

In itself, Sukarno's domination of a single diplomatic reception would scarcely be worth mention. But his performance that evening, so reminiscent of the old Sukarno in the days before the attempted Communist coup d'etat in September, 1965, is symptomatic.

Small Favors Given
He is being permitted small favors by Suharto which, while individually unimportant, give him a semblance of the very power he lost in the showdown last March.

The record abounds in such small favors. For example, the new ambassador to Washington, Suwito, was Sukarno's personal choice. As second man in the foreign office under the notorious Subandrio (now under death sentence for his part in the abortive coup d'etat), Suwito is anathema to foreign office careerists, who signed an unprecedented petition against the appointment. Nor did the U.S. conceal its lack of joy.

General Suharto, however, chose not to make an issue of Sukarno's insistence on Suwito. Sukarno himself swore him in at the luxurious presidential palace in Bogor last Saturday.

Nor has Sukarno ever made a public accounting of his leadership from 1959, when he adopted his disastrous "guided Democracy" hand in hand with the Indonesian Communist Party, up to the unsuccessful September coup attempt. The People's Consultative Congress, the highest authority in the country, last summer demanded such an accounting. Suharto has never enforced the demand, choosing instead, in typical Javanese style, to avoid showdowns wherever possible.

Last spring the Suharto high command privately analyzed the Sukarno problem in exhaustive skull sessions and concluded the wiser course was not to risk a public purge but to let Sukarno continue as president — as a figurehead who would gradually wither away.

Two-Fold Decision
The theory behind this policy decision was two-fold: that purging Sukarno could have disastrous results ("You don't shoot George Washington," as we were told); and that legitimacy of succession was imperative, thus requiring new elections to throw out the "Bung."

If Suharto's interregnum were proceeding smoothly, with food and jobs for all, and the 1968 election were assured, Sukarno's rehabilitation could be dismissed as impossible. Instead, Suharto and the remarkable group of young U.S.-trained economists he has gathered around him confront the most chaotic economic situation in Indonesia's history — a direct result of Sukarno's profligate policies.

To put the economy back in order, Suharto is about to embark on a drastic stabilization program certain to have deep political repercussions, which Sukarno will be quick to exploit.

Thus, the confluence of these two things — Sukarno's new boldness and political risks of Suharto's economic reforms — means the Sukarno problem is going to get a lot worse before it gets better.

Unified Advertising Hinted by Knowles

Special State Promotional Budgets
For Three Growing Programs Questioned

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A consolidation of three separate and growing business promotion and advertising programs supported by the state government may be suggested to the next legislature, Gov. Warren P. Knowles has hinted broadly during budget deliberations.

Knowles questioned the wisdom of independent and distinct operation of tax-supported efforts for the promotion of dairy markets, industrial development and the tourist trade, as he heard a request from Director Paul Pratt of the Division of Economic Development for a substantial enlargement of the advertising effort to attract more industry into Wisconsin communities. Pratt asked for about $120,000 a year in extra advertising funds. His division is now spending $75,000 a year for the purpose.

The Knowles appointee said he would not object to a merger of his advertising efforts with others of the state Conservation Department and the state Department of Agriculture, but explained that it is a policy question for the governor and the legislature to resolve.

Never Before Legislature
(Such a merger of separate and special interest state-financed promotion bureaus has been suggested by other governors and by critics of the state government organization, but it has not yet been laid squarely before the legislature for consideration. The dairy marketing promotion fund was arranged many years ago at the request of dairy interests. The tourism promotion bureau resulted from the appeals of tourist resorts.

The relatively young industrial promotion service was formerly a part of the department of resource development, but was detached and made a part of the state executive department a year ago.)

The combined spending power of the three promotion programs, including Pratt's proposal for more money, would probably reach a million dollars a year and would make the state's efforts comparable in size to those of the larger states of the country.

Industrial development has been one of the favorite themes of the Knowles administration, but the discussions with Pratt were otherwise uneventful. At one point Knowles said he has had some comments from Wisconsin employers about the wisdom of luring new industry into Wisconsin at a time of critical labor shortages, but he did not pursue the matter.

Pratt said the year 1965, with 353 new industrial establishments or expansions in Wisconsin, set an all-time record, but that this year will probably produce at least 300 new or enlarged industrial enterprises within the state.

Panama Raps U. S. Action At Airbase

PANAMA (AP)—Panama has told the United States that only Panamanian authorities have the right to take action on civilian planes landing at Rio Hato, an airbase 75 miles southwest of Panama City which is used by U.S. armed forces for training.

Foreign Minister Fernando Eleita reported to the National Assembly on a Panamanian passenger plane which made an emergency landing last week in Rio Hato.

The Panamanian pilot, Gilberto Gonzalez, claimed in a television interview that U.S. Army personnel detained the plane when he refused to furnish requested information. Gonzalez' charge led to denunciations against the United States in the national assembly. Eleita's official report, which agreed with U.S. statements that there had been no incident, did not mention any detention of the plane.

ty gives the United States the right to use Rio Hato for military maneuvers and training. Eleita said, but does not affect Panamanian sovereignty in the area.

Planes landing at Rio Hato were required by both Panamanian and U.S. regulations to give certain information, and the American troops sought the information about the plane last Thursday because no Panamanian officials or troops were around.

The shooting occurred inside the sprawling, stone restaurant building at the city's southern outskirts.

Formal Approval Expected Today At Close of National Convention

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The National Farmers Organization ends its convention today after taking formal action on a proposal for a milk withholding to force an increase in prices paid to farmers.

Some 8,000 delegates cheered Wednesday when NFO president Oren Lee Staley declared in a keynote address, "At this point I am assuming that it will be necessary to use a holding action, based on previous experience with processors, in order to gain bargaining power."

Delegates' response indicated that the convention would approve his request, and Staley said he saw little likelihood of a "hold" not being called if authorized.

Withholding Works

Staley, of Rea, Mo., said that because of NFO's beef withholding action of two years ago, organization members are now selling meat to eight of the 15 largest national packing firms.

"Fair prices are not to be gotten for the dairy farmers unless they do something for themselves," Staley said, urging dairy meetings "in every county" to obtain support for what he called a total bargaining effort.

The NFO is demanding a price of $6.05 per hundredweight for milk to be used in bottling—about a dollar per hundred above current prices.

Staley, president of NFO since its formation 12 years ago, told delegates, "There must be an atmosphere of calmness in the actual hold. Many will antagonize us. You have to be the statesmen in American agriculture and have to conduct yourselves that way."

Delegates cheered again Wednesday night when Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., told them they should go on record as opposing farm support payments by the federal government and when Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said, "The farmer just hasn't been subsidized. The American consumer has been subsidized by the American farmer."

Both said the NFO had the right formula for raising farm prices—organization for collective bargaining with processors.

"If you farmers are going to improve your income, you must do it the way every other successful group in America has done it—by bargaining together and selling it together," Proxmire said.

"Collective bargaining is the American way," O'Konski said. "It's as American as apple pie."

KAUKAUNA — A utility rate study is underway by Black and Veatch, Consulting Engineers, Kansas City, Mo., to determine whether adjustments should be made and what areas require change, according to Norbert Rhinerson, utility manager.

A 1954 study showed a rate increase would be necessary as the utility costs increased, but no rate increase has been made since the firm was organized in 1912.

A rate increase for electric utility users is inevitable to meet the rising costs of operation and higher prices for purchases of power, authorities said.

PSC Hearing Set

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) has scheduled a public hearing Jan. 5 in Appleton on a proposed interconnection of lines between the Kaukauna and Menasha utilities and a proposed expansion program here.

The proposed interconnect and expansion program was deemed most favorable to both Menasha and Kaukauna users following a detailed power study of all areas serviced by the two utilities. The study was made by Mead and Hunt, Inc., Madison, consulting engineers.

The study included investigation of costs for the utilities to continue operating as separate units with expansion of facilities, to continue to purchase power from Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and maintain present facilities, or to interconnect and work cooperatively as proposed to the PSC.

Aid Tax Base

Findings showed the interconnect and expansion of the Kaukauna plant would prove financially most economical and of mutual benefit to Kaukauna and Menasha residents in helping to reduce projected rate increases. Rhinerson noted, if Kaukauna increases rates, they still will be the lowest in the state and he emphasized, "the anticipated rate hike is not a result of the interconnect."

Lawrence Students March in Protest

Approximately 50 Lawrence University students began protests for an "Open Dorm Policy" at 1 p.m. Wednesday in front of Wilson House on the university campus.

The number of sign-carrying demonstrators swelled to more than 70 an hour later when the march was transferred to grounds in front of the home of Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, university president.

The open dorm policy has been a subject of campus debate in recent weeks. Dr. Tarr has borne the brunt of criticism by students who are seeking an extension of visiting hours in campus dormitories and student housing.

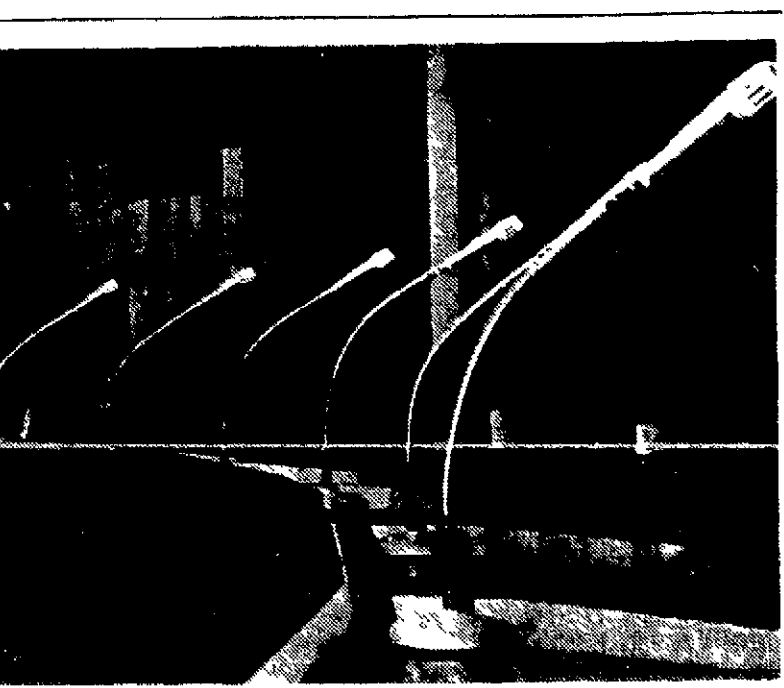

Visiting hours between students of both sexes are presently restricted to between 2 and 5 p.m. Sundays. The students are asking that the restrictions be eased to include 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesdays and Fridays.

David Chambers, spokesman for demonstrating students, said approximately 850 students signed a petition for the change. Chambers, a junior student of

Timetable Announced for College Avenue Project

Aptly-Named "Goose Neck" microphones are shown in Appleton city council chambers before being put to the acid test Wednesday night by aldermen. The new system was installed Wednesday. Ald. Arthur E. Mueller (19th), is pictured below using a micro-

Grand Chute Tax Hike Adopted to Meet School Needs

Jumps From $5.29 to $6.47 After State Credit Application

A whopping tax hike of $5.29 represents an assessed valuation of $350,385, up $4,308.

The portion of the town in the Butte des Morts Utility District will add an additional $5 to the rate for utility taxes.

Tax Break Down

A breakdown of the town's taxes shows Hortonville district $39.28, up $1.53; Appleton district $28.63, up $1.34; vocational school 20 cents, down 83 cents; county taxes $8.53, up $5.29, and state taxes 58 cents, up 14 cents.

Officials of the town appealed for a review of the large increase in the state's reassessment, declaring the figure arbitrary, unequal and discriminatory.

The equalized assessed value is used to determine what portion of county taxes will be paid by each town in the county. According to the new assessment Grand Chute would pay 8.712 per cent of the county's total taxes.

Grand Chute showed the greatest increase of values of any town in the county going from just over $36 million last year to more than $53 million for 1965 in real estate values alone.

The appeal has been filed with the county clerk and will be given to the state board of tax appeals.

Public Works People Ponder Pigeon Probe On E. College Bridge

A flock of pigeons was tacitly referred to the board of public works during the Appleton Council meeting Wednesday.

The board of health recommended referral after pigeons were reportedly becoming a nuisance on the E. College Avenue bridge.

Aldermen adopted the board's recommendation without discussion.

Froehlich Picks Head Of Finance Committee

Byron Wackett, Watertown, Is Chairman of Assembly Unit; Martin, Neenah, a Member

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Harold Froehlich, Assembly Speaker for the 1967 Legislature, selected a fiscal conservative, Assemblyman Byron Wackett, Watertown, as assembly-chairman of the Legislative Joint Committee on Finance and named Assemblyman David Martin, Neenah, as a member.

In a press conference this morning, Froehlich said the joint finance committee would make every effort to have the state "live within its means" during the next biennium. His goal, he said, would be to cut expenditures to meet revenues raised by the present tax structure, without adding any new forms of taxation.

Boom Could Level

Wackett, an owner of a service station and travelling trailer sales agency, reaffirmed Froehlich's intentions, noting that the present boom could level off.

Froehlich named five other members to the nine Assembly seats on the joint finance committee. They are John Shabaz, New Berlin, Russell Olson, Kenosha, Tommy G. Thompson, Elroy, all Republicans, and Democrats George Mohraro, Kenosha and Ronald Parys, Milwaukee.

Froehlich said he anticipated the two remaining spots would be filled by Republicans, for a seven to two breakdown.

Four of the five Senate members on the powerful committee are expected to be Republicans, which would mean an 11 to 3 Republican majority there.

Will be Critical

The committee selections are informal until Froehlich is officially installed as speaker on Schedule Subject to Alteration

A tentative schedule for College Avenue reconstruction shows that crews will begin removing pavement early next May, Ald. Roy Pointer, president of the city council said Wednesday night.

May and June will apparently be the months of greatest construction activity when utility and paving crews hurry to complete project work.

The schedule shows sidewalk and street lighting projects lasting through October. City officials said Wednesday the reconstruction will probably be finished sometime in November.

Questions Answered

Pointer, street and sanitation committee chairman, answered questions put to him by aldermen requesting information on the avenue program. The tentative schedule was revealed by Pointer after the council voted to hold a committee of the whole meeting after the regular council session.

Most of the questions were aimed at time of maximum

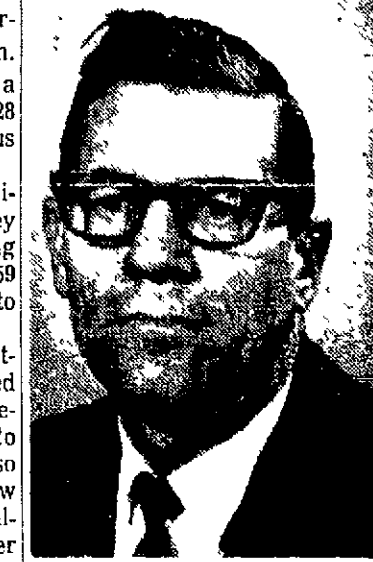

Frank Keuler Will Direct Public Works

Appleton Council Unanimously Backs Mayor's Selection

The appointment of Frank Keuler as Appleton director of public works was unanimously confirmed Wednesday night by the city council.

Keuler has been city engineer for the past year and a civil engineer for Appleton since 1959.

dations of an interviewing committee Monday. The committee met applicants, and reviewed oral and written examinations, before recommending Keuler's appointment.

Takes Over Now

Keuler will take over the post immediately, Buckley said.

The new director fills the post left vacant for several months after former director Robert Bues resigned. Assistant Director Donald C. Bengs has been acting director.

Director of Personnel Jerome Rusch said today starting salary for the public works job is $995 a month, with a range to $1,135 per month.

Keuler, 39, is a native of Kiel. He moved to Appleton in 1959 when he started his career with the city.

Is Engineer

A 1950 bachelor of civil engineering graduate of Marquette University, Keuler served three years in the U.S. Navy.

The new director, his wife and seven children reside at 900 S. Christine St.

In accepting the post, Keuler said, "I consider the appointment a real challenge. I will carry out my responsibilities to the best of my ability."

City Pays $13.51 For Good Food Tossed Out by Garbage Men

Appleton aldermen Wednesday night authorized payment of $13.51 to Mrs. William St. John, Appleton, who made a claim last week for food inadvertently removed from outside her home by a city sanitation crew.

Mrs. St. John said she was defrosting her refrigerator and placed the food in a container out of doors. When she finished the task, she discovered the container was empty.

A sanitation crew worker had picked up the food and dumped it into a garbage truck.

K-C Seeks Approval To Build Bulkhead

Structure at Lakeview Mill Would Tie to Waste Clarifier

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corp. has asked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to allow construction of a clay bulkhead and filling of about an acre of water with soil in Little Lake Butte des Morts along the shore behind Lakeview Mill.

A K-C spokesman said the proposed bulkhead and fill are connected with a clarifier to remove solids from wash water used in the mill, a project announced last June and said to cost $250,000.

The Corps announced that its consideration of the bulkhead proposal would center chiefly on the effects on navigation in the lake, but would also consider other pertinent factors, including fish and wildlife aspects.

Objections, statements or other information concerning the proposal should be sent to the Corps district office in Chicago by Dec. 20 by interested persons.

The proposed bulkhead would begin and end at existing points along the shore, which according to maps provided with the announcement dips inward from the lake in the area the firm wants to fill. The length of the bulkhead would be about 820 feet, and the filled area between it and the existing shoreline would be about 95 feet at the widest part.

The bulkhead, which would be constructed of compacted clay and faced with rock rip-rapping along the water, would begin 400 feet north of the south property line of the mill. The top of the clay dike would be 6.6 feet above standard low water.

Council Defers Eugene Street Name Question

'Brentwood Avenue' Proposal Delayed In Debate Moves

Renaming of Eugene Street to "Brentwood Avenue" was discussed, recessed, defeated and re-introduced during Wednesday night's meeting of the Appleton city council.

Forty residents representing 20 homes on Eugene Street petitioned the city for the name change. Their requests were recommended for denial previous to the council meeting.

Most recent was a recommendation by the city plan commission to refuse the request. When the matter was brought before city aldermen Wednesday night, it set off a heated and lengthy debate resulting in disapproval of renaming by a narrow 10 to nine vote.

One alderman, Glenn W. Thompson, (13th), was not present for the vote.

Ald Arthur E. Mueller (19th), in whose ward the street is located, reiterated his opposition to renaming the street and said, approximately 25 per cent of the streets in Appleton carry the names of persons.

As an afterthought Mueller said to Mayor George L. Buckley, "I hope you're not coming in with Viola Street and

Tipsy Driving Charges Reduced, Fines Levied

Two motorists arrested for driving while under the influence of intoxicants had their charges amended to reckless driving this morning in Outagamie County courts.

Dennis J. Hammen, 19, 925 Jefferson St., Little Chute, arrested by county police early the morning of Nov. 22, on County Trunk N., was fined $150 and costs or 90 days in jail after he pleaded guilty of reckless driving. He appeared before County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Roger Van Dera, 19, route 4, on County Trunk EE in the Town of Center, was fined $100 and costs or 30 days in jail after he pleaded guilty of the reduced charge before Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Van Dera, arrested by county police, filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Keller. Motions to amend the charges to reckless driving both were made by A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel.

The mayor resides on Viola Street.

Mueller cited record-changing expenses and the fear of starting a precedent as reasons for disapproving the change.

After a short council recess, aldermen voted on the issue and refused the request.

The 10 to 9 vote did not, however, assuage proponents of the re-christening. Ald. John W. Mac Donald (7th), later entered a resolution to rename the street.

The newest resolution was referred back to the street and sanitation committee, from whence it came.

Residents of Eugene Street, expressing dislike for the street's present name, have offered to pay expenses incurred should the change finally be approved by city councilmen.

A Birthday Party honoring 100 year old Henry Wenzel, Pleasant Acres Home, Winnebago, was held in the dining room at the home Wednesday afternoon. Above, Mrs. Ray Bee-

Near Neenah Foundry

Buffer Zone Purchase Approved; Council Fails to Provide Money

NEENAH — The proposed buffer zone near the Neenah Foundry in the Southview Plat, a controversial item since the idea was introduced last April, ran into another snag in the council chambers Wednesday evening.

The finance committee, meeting in a closed-door session Tuesday, recommended the city purchase 16.32 acres from Broadview Co., developers of the plat, for $4,000 per acre, or a total price tag of $65,280.

The council gave its okay to the proposal by a 6-2 vote, with two aldermen absent from the meeting.

However, when the resolution to appropriate the monies for the purchase came up, the same two aldermen, Stanley Drewa, Eighth Ward, and Thomas Ryan, Second Ward, where the plat is located, remained in opposition to the purchase.

Since it takes a two-thirds vote of the entire council to change the present budget and enough money wasn't available in the industrial site reserve account, the resolution failed by one vote to pass.

The property purchase is unlikely to remain a dead issue and the resolution can be re-introduced at the next council meeting by any aldermen on the losing side.

William Giese, Neenah Attorney and partner in Broadview Co., offered the city the property for $4,000 per acre. The area, presently zoned residential, would be rezoned light industrial (I-1).

The sale is contingent on the removal of the residential covenant of the present property owners in the plat.

The city is powerless to rezone the area unless the covenant is lifted. There are 431 lots in the Southview Plat, of which Broadview Co. owns about 283.

Approval of three-fourths of the property owners is needed to lift the covenant, meaning about 42 signatures.

The adjournment came after two hours of hearings and an hour's conference between City and Town utility attorneys.

Citizens Like Sound

Aldermen Ask Change In Microphone System

Appleton aldermen apparently aren't satisfied with the new microphone system in council chambers.

Wednesday night they put the new sound system to its first test and promptly asked the Director of Public Works to check into some major equipment changes.

A metal base, approximately six inches in diameter has been bolted to the top of each alderman's table and supports a "goose neck" stem for each microphone.

Base Too Big

The base is slightly larger than the narrow ledge to which it is mounted and, consequently, juts about an inch beyond the ledge's edge.

Councilmen also indicated fear that the microphone stems would lose their rigidity and "flop" onto table tops after some month's use.

Other aldermen questioned the necessity of a microphone for each desk, saying two aldermen probably could share one "mike."

Wires running along the floor from the system console to the tables were cited as a safety hazard.

There were no complaints, however, about the actual functioning of the system. Spectators during the council session generally agreed that amplification improved the chances of hearing aldermanic conversations.

Installation of the sound system was completed Wednesday by Ra-Tel Service Inc., Oshkosh.

Fire Set by Vandals To be Investigated

MENASHA — Police have turned over to the fire department an investigation of a fire set by vandals between the doors of a home Wednesday afternoon.

The homeowner reported he left for about 15 minutes to go to the store, and when he returned found newspapers burning between the inside and outside doors. Children were suspected of the vandalism.

The home owner said his

Three Outagamie Men Arraigned in Brown County

GREEN BAY — Three Outagamie County men were arraigned in County Court Branch 2 today, charged with breaking into a Greenleaf store early Wednesday morning.

A 17-year-old Appleton youth who also allegedly took part in the break-in has been returned to Outagamie County for action.

Conrad Hintz, 24, 431 Patrick St., Combined Locks asked for a preliminary hearing on a charge of burglary. Jan. 13 was set as a hearing date by Judge James W. Byers. Herman Paul Domingos, 21, 3836 E. Wisconsin St., Appleton, and Timothy Roovers, 18, 235 S. Willow St., Kimberly, asked for time to consult with an attorney and the balance of their arrangement was set over to Friday.

Bond was set at $2,000 for each man.

The trio and the juvenile are charged with breaking a window and entering Diny's Electric Shop about 2:15 a.m. A county patrolman saw several figures leaving the building, and captured one of them. Nothing was reported taken from the store.

Richardson, who is in his early 40s, was a member of a hunting party that included four Minocqua area couples. Members of the group, including Mrs. Richardson, found the body. Richardson had been hunting alone in the Red Lake area in the vicinity of Kenora, Ontario.
